Boy, 15 Freed By Jury

Found Not Guilty In Father's Death

NANAIMO (CP)—Roy Kenny, 15, was found not guilty of manslaughter here Friday in the two-punch slaying of his father. The Assize Court jury deliberated only 30 minutes.

The youth was originally charged with murder after the slaying which occurred at the Kenny's South Wellington home near here December 16, but the charge was reduced to manslaughter.

His trial was highlighted Friday by the testimony of his mother, Mrs. George Kenny, and his 13-year-old sister Audrey.

Mrs. Kenny said her husband had rushed at the boy, threatening to kill him.

Crown counsel Frank S. Cunliffe, QC, instructed the jury to decide whether the boy used more force than was necessary in the fight with his father.

NECK, JAW BROKEN

Medical evidence showed the father died of a broken neck. A post-mortem disclosed the elder Kenny suffered three fractures in his jaw.

Mrs. Kenny testified her husband tried to choke her four years ago and that he pulled a knife on Roy on another occasion.

"I stopped him before he did anything," she said. "I whacked him on the head with a milk stool on Easter Monday, 1953."

Mrs. Kenny said her husband arrived home "mean drunk" about midnight December 16 and demanded she go with him to Alberni to pick up a heifer for their farm. She refused, she told the court, and when Roy also refused, the fight started.

THREATENED TO KILL

He "made a pass at Roy," but missed, Mrs. Kenny said. The boy struck his father and ~~knocked him~~ back into the bedroom. Mrs. Kenny said her husband "immediately picked himself up and charged at Roy and told him he was going to kill him."

Roy struck her husband another blow, Mrs. Kenny said, and then the family called police.

GEORGE ZAPOTICHNY
. . . "Take it off!"

Trickery Claimed To Get Signers For Dry Petition

New weight was given yesterday to city council's move for a provincial government investigation into the liquor petition canvass by members of the Greater Victoria Citizens' Association, when George Zapotichny, 815 Penwell Street, said his name was put on the petition without his knowledge or consent.

Other Victorians joined in later in the day.

Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow called for the investigation in city council Thursday, stating that people had complained to him that canvassers had misrepresented facts to get petition signatures.

He said Mr. Zapotichny's complaint was an example of the sort of thing that had caused him to call for the investigation.

The complaint, he said, should give cause for further concern.

Legality of the council motion isn't yet clear. The mayor ruled the motion defeated on a tie vote during the council meeting. Immediately following adjournment of the meeting he said the motion had passed because one member of council hadn't voted and in such cases a non-voting member is considered to have voted in the affirmative.

The liquor petition carried 12,318 signatures.

As far as Mr. Zapotichny is concerned the number should be 12,317. His name was added to the list without his knowledge or consent, and contrary to his opinions, he said.

He said a fast-talking woman campaigner persuaded his wife, Laura, it was permissible for her to sign his name, after the canvasser painted the picture of a beer parlor on the vacant lot opposite the Zapotichny home if enough names were not on the petition.

Mr. Zapotichny said yesterday at the garage where he works that he did his voting on the liquor outlet question in June 1952, when he said "yes" to the sale of liquor by the glass in licensed premises in Victoria.

WAS AT WORK

"I was at work when the woman came in our house a week past Friday," said Mr. Zapotichny. "I was pretty mad when I found out that the 'drys' had persuaded my wife to sign my name.

"They told her it was all right to do so as long as she initialed my name," he added.

Mrs. Zapotichny said the woman came to the house around four in the afternoon.

"She told me we would have no vote if our names did not appear on the petition," she said. "Actually I wasn't too sure what it was all about."

The campaigner told her that if the petition did not have enough names there was the possibility that a beer parlor might be erected on the open ground opposite her house, she said.

MANY CHILDREN

"There are a lot of children in this neighborhood," said Mrs. Zapotichny, "and when I heard that I didn't think it would be very nice."

She said the woman had already visited other houses in the street before reaching her.

"I also signed my name," she added.

"These people are trying to run a swindle of some kind, and I don't like being swindled," said Herbert C. Rose, 410 Quebec Street.

Mr. Rose said a female campaigner who called at his home about a week ago tried to convince him he would not have a vote if he did not sign the petition.

"I told her that if insufficient names were placed on the petition there would be no vote required, and that I also knew I would have a vote even if the petition went through and I had not signed it."

NOT INTERESTED

"I told her I wasn't interested in her petition," said Mr. Rose.

"These people are just a bunch of killjoys," he added.

Two residents who were unhappy about signing the liquor petition are Mrs. H. W. Harvey, and Mrs. S. Jensen of 807 and 803 Penwell Street.

"I definitely want my name off the list," said Mrs. Harvey. "I wasn't given the correct story at all. I was told that I wouldn't have any say in the matter unless I signed."

TRICKERY CLAIMED

Mrs. Harvey said she hadn't really known what she was signing but had done so because she had seen other neighbor's names on the petition. "I was tricked into it," she added.

"She got my name under false pretences," Mrs. Jensen said. "I really didn't want to sign it either but after she had told me I wouldn't have a vote in the matter, I did. I would never have signed if I had had time to think it over."

Hospital at Duncan May Have To Close

DUNCAN—Threat of closure faces King's Daughters' Hospital here, it was reported last night.

An extraordinary meeting of the hospital board of directors ordered chairman G. E. Wellburn to sign union contracts which had been agreed to by the hospital's legal representative. The contracts were with nurses, operating engineers and lay staff.

Mr. Wellburn had refused to sign because he "considered it silly to sign an agreement which we do not see any present possibility of keeping."

D. W. Jack, who seconded a motion to sign the agreements, said there was no escaping the board's legal obligation.

Other board members argued that the only thing to do was sign the agreements, pay the wages as long as funds are available, and then if BCHIS will not advance sufficient further funds to permit the hospital to carry on, the hospital would have to close.

The agreements called for an additional $30,000 in costs this year, principally through granting of the 40-hour week.

D. B. Williams, a board member and a lawyer, and chairman of the negotiating committee said "the refusal to sign the agreement is placing me in an extremely embarrassing position."

All terms of the new contracts are already in force.

Columbia Dam Investigation Not Finished

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters said Friday a proposed $400,000,000 hydro project on the Columbia River in British Columbia is still under investigation by the government.

"Studies are still continuing and there is a distinct possibility that a dam will some day be built there," he informed the Commons.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) asked the minister to comment on reports that construction would start in 18 months on a 600-foot-high hydro dam on the big bend of the Columbia where it loops to the north in its descent from the Rocky Mountains.

Mr. Winters said he is surprised at the suggested 18-month period. "I would be inclined to think that it would be a little longer."

The project was being investigated by Resources Minister Lesage.

If the dam was built, it would flood a substantial portion of the existing Big Bend highway, the planned route of the Trans-Canada highway. The B.C. government would be indemnified in full for any damages to the highway from the flooding.

$1,000,000 Whatshan Disaster Ousts B.C. Power Commission

Probe Placed Blame

Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne of the B.C. Supreme Court was commissioned last September to seek the causes of the Whatshan mud slides.

After hearing 25 witnesses in 22 days of evidence and visiting the slide area, Mr. Justice Clyne ruled that the three commissioners and the chief engineer knew, or should have known, that the plant was in danger for two years before the slides, but failed to try to avert them.

The Clyne report said that H. G. Acres & Co., the consulting engineers who planned the plant, were not to blame.

Commission staff men on the spot warned repeatedly over a two-year period that huge masses of mud behind the power plant were shifting, but the chief engineer, A. W. Lash, and the commissioners took no action, Mr. Justice Clyne said.

The commissioners "hoped Mr. Lash would look after the situation," the report said.

Mr. Lash hoped that plant superintendent, J. T. Kirkpatrick, was looking after it. But "what Mr. Kirkpatrick was doing was hopelessly inadequate and actually harmful."

Mr. Kirkpatrick tried to prevent the slides by hosing loose material off the mountain side. He told his superiors what he was doing. The report attached no blame to him.

CAUSE OF SLIDES

The slides were caused by water leaking from a two-mile pressure tunnel which drew water from Whatshan Lake to the hydro generating station.

Leaking water saturated loose material on the slope behind the power plant. Silt, clay and boulders began to shift two years before the disastrous slides.

G. A. Vandervoort, the commission's chief operations engineer, warned in March, 1952, that rivers of mud threatened to engulf the plant.

Despite such warnings, the Clyne report said, the commission did not discuss the earth movement with Mr. Lash. They asked him for no advice and did not order him to investigate.

The judge said the tunnel should have been closed and inspected, and leaks in the tunnel wall sealed.

Belgium Ratifies Treaty

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian Senate approved the six-nation European army and advanced the European Defense Community to its half-way mark Friday.

The Netherlands and West Germany already have ratified the EDC Treaty. France, Italy and Luxembourg still have to act.

France's final position on the army, which is intended to include 500,000 German soldiers, is one of the biggest question marks now.

Italy's new premier Mario Scelba has promised to fight for ratification, but internal troubles, including a boiling scandal over the death of a society party girl, threatened Scelba's schedule in the Italian parliament.

Actually only the Netherlands has completed all the technical treaty ratification procedure.

West Germany's President Heuss has held up signature of the German ratification papers pending settlement of a constitutional dispute in West Germany over rearmament.

Belgium's King Baudouin has to sign the treaty and the Belgian official journal has to publish it before the Belgian ratification process is completed.

The Belgian Senate vote was 125 to 40, with two abstentions and eight members absent. The lower House approved the EDC Treaty last November 148 to 49, with three abstentions.

The West German government hailed the Belgian Senate's ratification. In Bonn, a West German parliamentary committee worked on legislation to call up the 500,000 German soldiers promised for the army.

Resignations Follow Jurist's Criticism

British Columbia's three-man power commission and its chief engineer resigned yesterday, as a consequence of the $1,800,000 damage done by mudslides at the Whatshan hydro installation on Lower Arrow Lake last August and a finding of negligence on the part of these officials by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, royal commissioner.

Chairman S. R. Weston, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, VD, and Forrest L. Shaw, OBE, proferred their resignations to the government. They were accepted.

A. W. Lash, the commission's chief engineer, gave his resignation to the commission. It, too, will be accepted, the premier indicated.

FAST DEVELOPMENTS

On the heels of the resignations came these rapid developments:

1. A new commission will make its own decision on the feasibility of developing Buttle Lake as a storage reservoir.

2. Conservationists urged delay in the power commission's Buttle dam project, indicating a reopening of the fight to preserve inviolate the Strathcona Park area in which the lake lies.

3. Hints that seepage at the Campbell River dam took on a larger significance.

4. Officials feared a shackling of power commission enterprise in the absence of executives with power to approve expenditures or even to pay salaries.

PREMIER GRAVE

When the premier rose in the legislature yesterday immediately after prayers he was grave.

"I rise on a matter of urgent public importance," he said.

"On Friday last the government received the report of Mr. Justice Clyne in regard to the Whatshan dam matter. This report was immediately filed in the House and thereafter studied by the government and the power commission.

"I wish now to advise the House that the government is about to receive the resignations of the commissioners, and upon receiving them it is the government's intention to accept these resignations."

From Mr. Weston, commission chairman, the premier had received this letter: "After considering the report of Mr. Justice Clyne I hereby tender my resignation as chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, to take effect at your pleasure.

"May I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere appreciation of the courteous treatment received from you and your colleagues on all occasions."

SECOND FILED

Mr. Shaw's resignation also was filed with the premier's office and General Foster's was expected. He is in Vancouver.

Mr. Lash, the commission's veteran chief engineer, sent his resignation to his principals. But the premier said it would be accepted.

After the House had risen Premier Bennett remarked: "Accepting these resignations is the toughest job I've had since I became premier."

The resignations were made voluntarily, he added.

Then he said: "Consideration is now being given to successors to the commissioners. We will endeavor to secure the best possible people for these positions."

POLICY QUESTIONED

He was questioned as to the possible change of policy with regard to development of storage at Buttle Lake, by damming the Campbell River source to feed the six generator units at John Hart Development powerhouse.

"This," he said, "will be a matter for the new commission to consider."

The decision on Buttle Lake should not be left to the new power commission but to the Bridge Aid Sought Of Dominion, Province

A formal motion calling on the provincial and federal governments for financial assistance in construction of a new Point Ellice Bridge and reconstruction of the Johnson Street span will be framed by the city public works committee.

Decision on this new tactical plan was made yesterday as the committee met on estimates.

The motion will come before the next regular meeting of the council.

Ald. Robert Macmillan stated the bridges were tied up with national defense because they provided a direct link with military installations in Esquimalt.

"The senior governments have a direct responsibility in construction of the bridges for this reason," he said.

The city should tell the senior governments it is faced with heavy expenditures on the bridges over the next few years and ask them for immediate consideration of the problem, he said.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, committee chairman, said the city had never made official representations to senior authorities for assistance on the bridge problem. He stated that formal representations should be made to the provincial government, the local federal MP and B.C.'s cabinet ministers.

Tribute Paid to Workers

BCHIS Employees Didn't Ask Hearing

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service employees have made no request to the government for a hearing, two cabinet ministers said Friday.

Employees who face loss of their jobs as a result of the new hospital financing plan told the Colonist Wednesday night the government had refused to hear any representations from them.

Both Health Minister Eric Martin and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said, however, that no such request had been made.

In the Legislature Friday afternoon, Mr. Martin paid a tribute to the BCHIS employees.

"I came to know this staff as a hard-working and conscientious group of citizens," he said. "They are people who were trying to do a job. Many of them were in at the beginning and they've gone through all the kicks and knocks . . . and they came through as one of the most capable staffs in government.

I want to pay tribute to these fine people, because they deserve it."

Mr. Martin said the BCHIS staff had been decreased from a peak of 681 in July, 1951, to 496 in February of this year. (Estimates now before the House show only 413 employed.)

The staff is to be cut to 120 in the planned reorganization.

"Everything possible will be done to place those released in employment elsewhere," Mr. Martin said. "Already we have commenced to do that."

Deportation Decreed For Paddler

VANCOUVER (CP)—Deportation to the United States was ordered Friday for 36-year-old Lawrence Answych of Deer Harbor, Wash., who paddled 20 miles into the hands of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

His deportation was ordered when he failed to convince immigration authorities here that he became a Canadian citizen in 1910.

U.S. immigration officials have been asked whether they will accept Answych.

He arrived at Pender Island March 2 after paddling up the Gulf of Georgia from Deer Harbor in the San Juan Islands. He was picked up by RCMP for illegal entry.

Answych disappeared from his landlady's home February 2 to "go fishing." U.S. Coast guard searched for him before finally reporting him "missing and believed drowned."

Speak Your Mind

What Should We Do To Improve the Island

BY THE JUDGE

Now that you've aired your views as to whether Victoria should be advertised as a little bit of Olde England the Judge has chosen a new topic which should bring in a lot of letters.

If you had the power what would you do to improve any particular feature of Vancouver Island?

Just put yourself into the shoes of your civic or Island leaders. (The Judge put himself in the shoes of Mayor Harrison and he's not speaking to anyone.)

Maybe you think Victoria should have a zoo. Or you may feel that Nanaimo or Duncan needs a new City Hall.

Any improvement you think of will do. There's really no limit to the possibilities. And if you live on the Island you must have ideas on some things which you feel need improving.

Remember there's a daily prize of $2 for the best letter and $25 for the weekly winner. So start sending those letters in immediately. Who knows, you could be a winner.

P.S. If some of you feel that your district would be improved with the departure of your neighbors I'm afraid we can't use your letters. But it should make interesting reading.

Milestone Or Millstone?

Liberal leader Arthur Laing asked Health Minister Eric Martin to supply copies of his lengthy policy statement on hospital insurance to all members of the house.

It was a "most involved statement," he said, and "until we read it we won't know whether you've created a milestone or a millstone."

Lights Ignored In Wild Ride

Stop lights didn't mean a thing last night to Travers Rankin of 122 Peatt Road, Langford.

He reported to police that he had ignored several red lights in a wild 12-minute ride from Langford to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Ten minutes after he arrived at the hospital, his wife gave birth to their fifth child, an eight-pound daughter.

Police took a lenient view.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

WILLIAM C. KERSEY, back in town after accompanying Mrs. Kersey on a journey to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, tells how he flourished a Canadian $10 bill in front of American merchants and drew only blank stares.

"What's that?" many of them asked—although the printing on the bill was plainly readable in English and French.

Not [illegible] in Rochester or in Chicago would accept the bill at par, let alone pay the current premium on it. A few offered to take it at a discount.

Bill Kersey didn't expect to have the bill changed. He was simply curious to see what would happen.

When he offered the note to a girl bank cashier in Rochester, she said "Oh, you'll have to see Mr. Tubbs about that."

Mr. Tubbs, who turned out to be the assistant manager, said he could accept Canadian money only in lots of $50 or more, and even then he could pay a premium of only 1½ per cent on it.

At that time the Canadian dollar was quoted in New York at nearly 4 per cent premium.

People in stores squinted at the 10-spot so dubiously that Bill Kersey wondered whether it was counterfeit. He brought it home with him.

More than 250 persons applied recently for three vacant posts as drivers' examiners in the motor vehicle bureau, I understand. Two of the jobs were in Vancouver, one in Victoria.

An examiner's appointment always was much sought after.

Talking about civil service jobs, the stenographers in hospital insurance won't be unduly worried by the impending cutback in their department. Other branches of the civil service have long been short of stenographers. There are never enough stenographers to meet the needs of private employers in town.

What will happen to the non-skilled clerks who lose their BCHIS jobs is a different matter, of course.

That rebellious typewriter of mine has been playing foul tricks on me.

Yesterday I wrote a piece about a major-league baseball team offering season tickets on the budget plan, with no down payment.

The team that made the offer was the Pittsburgh Pirates. I have known for years that the Pirates operate in Pittsburgh. As a boy I once played for a softball team that was named after them—and I can tell you without fear of contradiction that I was the feeblest third baseman who ever trod the diamond.

But my evil typewriter chose to insert the name "Philadelphia" in yesterday's item. It wasn't a mistake. The typewriter did it on purpose, I know.

By way of punishment, I am going to see that the typewriter doesn't get its new ribbon this month.

Business manager Reg Patterson of Victoria Tyees tells me that the local club also has a credit plan. You can buy a $45 season ticket for home games for $10 down, and the rest by installments. There has been no talk of cutting out the down payment, though.

Not Raining Today? Then Start on Lawn

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Given freedom from rain this week end, one of the jobs which can be started is the spring conditioning of the lawn.

Small lawns, especially those in the heart of the city, take quite a beating during the winter months and this is often accentuated by the fact that they started life like Topsy: they just growed! Relaying is expensive but you can do a lot by cleaning it carefully, aerating it, and giving it a good feed.

I usually start operations by giving the lawn its first mowing and this first cut is always made pretty close. If you haven't a grass catcher on your mower, rake up the clippings; they will be too long and too wet to leave lying around. Following this, I scratch the bejabbers out of the lawn, using a saw-toothed dandelion rake and treating it pretty rough. It is surprising the quantity of dead stuff that comes away under this treatment.

Next job is aerating and up until last year I always used an ordinary digging fork, piercing the turf to a depth of four inches and wiggling the handle back and forth to make little holes for the entry of air, water and food. Last year I treated myself to a hollow-tined fork, a neat little instrument which cuts three clean little holes in the turf every time it is pushed down. Make the rows of holes six inches apart and continue over the whole lawn surface.

For the first feeding of the lawn I prefer to use a complete fertilizer such as 5-10-5 or a 6-8-6 rather than the high nitrogen mixtures made especially for lawns. At this season of the year it is important to invigorate the roots; leafage can come later. For a large lawn, the only really satisfactory means of distribution is to buy, rent, or borrow a fertilizer spreader. On small lawns the stuff can be distributed by hand, but it is important to make sure that it goes on evenly.

One way of accomplishing this is to measure out the required amount of fertilizer and divide it into two lots, applying one lot in a lengthwise operation and the other crosswise. Any errors in distribution should cancel out avoiding the patchy effect which often follows hand distribution.

Any bald or thin spots on the lawn may be seeded now, and for this kind of renovation I like to mix the seed with about ten times its bulk of dry sand before distributing it. This helps to ensure a nice even sowing, while the sand gives the seed a bit of covering and a good medium in which to germinate.

If you have any great amount of edge clipping to do around your lawn, this is the correct time of year to apply the new growth-retarding hormone chemical, Maleic Hydrazide. Applied early in the season with a sprayer or watering can in a six-inch band around the edge of the lawn, it will retard growth to a point where only two or three clippings will be needed throughout the growing season to keep the edges neat.

Victims of the floods in the Netherlands received Canadian Red Cross emergency relief supplies within 18 hours after the North Sea inundated their land in February, 1953.

Education Week

Boys Get Training In Industrial Arts

As a feature of Education Week, The Colonist is presenting this series of articles prepared by key members of the school board staff, to explain the aims and methods of modern education.

BY JOHN S. WHITE
Vocational-Technical Education Director

Industrial arts is a part of general education, and is compulsory for all boys in Grades 7 and 8, however the course is optional in Grades 9 to 12. This subject contributes to the all round development of the boy. It is neither vocational nor trade training. The program is centred around four fields of endeavor: woodwork, metal work, electricity and drafting. Each boy is encouraged to select and plan a job of his own choice, thus satisfying his creative urge to make something with his hands, to create with practical skill. In addition to this, the boy learns through practical experience the use of the common woodworking and metalworking tools. Whereas the boy in the city may embark on a program which fits more closely to his needs by choosing a combined course in woodwork and metal work dealing with the skills required to maintain and repair farm equipment.

The woodworking course includes furniture making and finishing; it trains boys to proceed in an orderly and safe manner when using machines. At the Grade 12 level the student studies the fundamentals of house construction by drawing [illegible] home of his own design. Such a project provides this potential home owner with a knowledge of what is good and what is poor in house construction. Such information should enable him to make a wiser choice when he comes to build or buy a home of his own.

Metalwork teaches the use and care of the main hand tools associated with the laying out and fashioning of projects in metal. The fundamental processes of carburizing, annealing, hardening and tempering are taught. Metalwork courses are intended to provide an understanding of the operations encountered in the industrial world of today.

The foundry unit in the school along with the shop provide the student with an all round understanding of the industrial cycle, in other words the course acquaints him with the various steps, the blue print, the pattern, the casting, the benchwork, tools and the machine to the finished project. The boy is encouraged to apply these experiences to an article such as a pair of fire tongs, a small woodworking vise, or a raised bowl in copper which will be of use to himself or his family.

ELECTRICAL KNOWLEDGE

With the tremendous expan[illegible]jects and all the many electrical goods which reach the home in this day of modern living, the boy and man of the future will be constantly in touch with gadgets and appliances of an electrical nature. The electrical course in industrial arts does give a boy the underlying theories of electricity. This study is backed up with practical experiments in which the boy wires up batteries, meters, bells, lamps and push buttons, etc., in six-volt parallel and series circuits. He can actually see and read the results produced by these circuits. Eventually he works on 110-volt circuits and installs the simple appliances found in homes of today. This work not only provides an understanding of the problems and hazards encountered in house wiring but it also affords opportunities for learning about safety and safety habits.

Industrial arts lead to the discovery and development of hand skills and talents which might otherwise lie dormant. Adults know that failure in life is often the result of misdirected effort. Too frequently men wander from one job to another in search of work that they can do best. The unhappy clerk might have become a skilled draftsman. The school of today gives boys an insight into the fields of industry and encourages them to discover if they have a definite interest and an aptitude for a particular line of work. The industrial arts program is not extensive enough, nor is it intended to produce expert cabinet makers, metal workers, electricians or draftsmen, but rather it stresses the dignity and value of labor and the skills required in working with hand, eye and brain.

RCMP To Assist In Sunset Rites

Mayor Claude Harrison told city council Thursday that the RCMP had applied for permission to take part in sunset ceremonies in front of the Legislative Buildings this summer along with units of the armed forces.

Aldermen approved the request.

Speak Your Mind

Olde England? Perhaps Not. But Victoria Nice To Live In

BY THE JUDGE

Yesterday I was looking through some old papers and came across a copy of the Los Angeles Times, dated last September. In it was a story about Vancouver Island.

And the writer had this to say about our fair city: "Victoria is perhaps the finest residential [illegible]"

That just about sums it up. People born in England, or for that matter any other country, quite naturally have nostalgic memories of their homeland. And if they associate Victoria with places in the Old Country that's quite alright by me.

But there's just one note of warning. You live here now and you must be regarded as Canadians. So don't run down Victoria and the people born and bred here.

Today's winner, picked out of dozens of letters, follows.

Dear Judge:

By all means advertise Victoria as a little bit of Olde England what with the Oak trees and the birds and the Cathedral bells on a Sunday. If ever in England take a trip to the Malvern Hills in Worcestershire and you cannot but admit that you are looking at some lovely country. Take a trip up to Mount Tolmie and look down at Victoria and you cannot but admit that it is a lovely place. It is so lovely that I call it home.

ANOTHER ENGLISHMAN,
Victoria

Dear Judge:

I wouldn't beguile strangers, tourists, and expectant citizens with this crafty advertisement. Why? Well, with the exception of the Uplands and Rockland Avenue Victoria is in every respect similar to hundreds of cities throughout Canada . . .

OLD JOHN,
Courtenay

MINERAL SOURCE

Northern Rhodesia produces almost one-fifth of the world's cobalt and 12 per cent of its copper.

Dear Judge:

[illegible] a few [illegible] how silly it is to compare our modern city with England. It is like Marilyn Monroe in a lovely silk gown with woolen stockings and button boots on.

F.H.C.,
Victoria

(That might sound silly to you, but we'll take M.M., even in button boots.)

Dear Judge:

A bit of Olde England my eye. As far as I am concerned there is no comparison.

I have spent quite a bit of time in England, and the English people are friendly while the Victorians (people born and raised here) are in my estimation very unfriendly. So let's leave England where it is and leave Victoria dead, as always.

I'm not writing this just because I live in Langford. I lived in Victoria three years.

J. MORTON,
Langford.

Dear Judge:

A century ago, when this place was but a Hudson's Bay Company trading post, it rejoiced in the fascinating name of Fort Ca[illegible] the deadly aim of the dull and unimaginative some stuffy city fathers of yore (doubtless all good old English gentlemen) saw fit to throw romance to the winds whence it came and securely nailed the lid down on the deadest city in Canada by calling it Victoria. "We are not amused."

Secret Material Reported Missing From Atom Plant

WASHINGTON (UP) – Rep. Thomas M. Pelley (R-Wash.) said Friday "highly secret" material is missing from files of the Hanford, Wash. atomic [illegible]

He said the atomic energy commission has confirmed the loss. Pelly said investigators of the joint congressional atomic energy committee already are at work on the case.

He told a reporter he does not know whether espionage is responsible for the missing files or simply "poor housekeeping."

VERY USEFUL

Referring to the missing [illegible] lot of such information as this in the hands of the Soviets could be very useful."

Pelly said the volume of missing material is "rather extensive."

He said he does not know whether the papers involve formulas, construction data, or other material.

It is his understanding the papers had been missing "for some time."

Pelly said he decided to make the information public after the atomic energy commission failed to send him a promised letter detailing what it knew about the case.

WROTE LETTER

He wrote AEC chairman Lewis Strauss on February 25, telling him of "disturbing rumors that many highly classified documents" were missing at Hanford.

The next day an AEC spokesman called at his office and confirmed the loss, he said. Pelly said the spokesman also had promised the agency would send further details in a letter.

The letter still has not come, he said.

Pelly also wrote to chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) of the joint congressional atomic energy committee.

Cole told reporters he has assigned an investigator to check Pelly's report and that the committee also is investigating all other atomic installations for possible missing documents.

Tugs Serve In Defense Of Northwest

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP) – An operation in which commercial tug boats serve as eyes and ears for the Pacific Northwest's aerial defenders along the far-flung shipping lanes of the North Pacific was disclosed Friday.

B.C. tugs are not taking part.

Brig. Gen. T. Alan Bennett, commander of the 25th Air Division, said about 60 tugs of six firms are involved in "Operation Tug MOP." The "MOP" is for Marine Observation Post."

SEATTLE TO ADAK

They range from Seattle to Adak in the Aleutians.

The disclosure here came after an announcement that a similar operation was being carried on by the 26th Air Division along the North Atlantic Coast.

Many Starving In Rat Scourge

MANILA (UP) – An estimated 200,000 persons were starving today as a result of destruction by ravaging hands of rats, and officials of the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund moved swiftly to supply sufficient food before the scourge reaches its peak.

A huge farming area in two provinces of Mindanao Islands in the Southern Philippines has been devastated by the rats and agricultural officials estimate 50 per cent of this year's crop in Cotabato province has been destroyed.

WORST IN HISTORY

UNICEF director James McCall, who has lived in the region for 20 years, called it the worst rat invasion of Cotabato in history. He estimated 200,000 persons [illegible] the affected area.

The once lush regions of Cotabato and Davao provinces have been deserted by several hundred families. No official figures were available on the number of deaths caused by starvation.

However, officials of the United Nations organization said they have received additional reports of suicides in the 10 most heavily stricken municipalities and of hunger-wracked farmers going insane.

BACK FROM TOUR

McCall, who just returned from a tour of the stricken areas, said the devastation includes an area of approximately 2,400 square kilometers of farming land.

"The whole farming operation has been paralyzed," he said, "and when I say all I mean all."

St. Laurent Begins Trip Home

TOKYO (CP) – Prime Minister St. Laurent left Tokyo today on the last leg of his six-week goodwill tour of world capitals.

The RCAF C-5 carrying the Canadian party will make two Pacific stops before arriving in San Francisco March 16 and flying to Ottawa the following day.

The Canadian leader and his party will stop briefly at Midway, where the prime minister will make an unofficial call on acting Governor Farrant L. Turner and then make an unofficial tour of Pearl Harbor naval base.

SHIPS VISITED

Friday the prime minister visited three Canadian destroyers which docked here for his visit. The ships, the flagship Haida and the Crusader and Cayuga, are on a Far East tour of duty.

The squadron's senior officer, Capt. John A. Charles of Victoria, commander of the Haida, greeted the prime minister on his arrival.

Commies Take Liberties, 'Ma Kettle' on Warpath

HOLLYWOOD (UP) – Marjorie Main, known to millions of movie fans as Ma Kettle, was madder than all get out today when she discovered a Communist paper in Poland has been using her picture to illustrate an advice to the lovelorn column.

Not one to take an affront like this lying down, Miss Main fired off a telegram to the state department in Washington demanding action. She asked that the U.S. ambassador in Poland try to stop the paper, Przekroj, from using her photo.

OLD PICTURE

"The whole thing's a mystery to me," the veteran actress huffed. "I've never been in Poland in my life. And the picture they're using is an old one taken when I was made up to play Ma Kettle."

The title under Marjorie's picture is "wise old aunt."

"That doesn't set very well with me either," she said. "I don't feel like anybody's aunt. And I know darned well I've never given any advice to the lovelorn. Never been asked!"

Miss Main was informed of the deal by a magazine entitled "News From Behind the Iron Curtain." Her picture has been running in the paper for more than a year.

FILMS BANNED

The actress is further confused by the fact that American films have been banned in Poland for years and that Communists have described Hollywood as the symbol of western decadence.

She sat in her Universal-International dressing room on the set of "The Matchmakers" asking advice of everyone who passed.

"Who ever thought Ma Kettle would get mixed up in an international political situation like this," Marjorie groaned. "If they can do a thing like this to me, they can do it to other picture people too. That's why I sent that telegram to Washington.

"Maybe I never won any beauty prizes for being a glamour girl, but I prize my liberty. And they sure are taking liberties with me in Communist Poland."

Oddity

LONDON (UP) – Laborite Emrys Hughes told the House of Commons Friday Britain is wasting money on army recruiting posters proclaiming "you're somebody in the army today."

No intelligent person who has been in the army for 24 hours believes that, he said.

Time To Look Again

THE failure of the Whatshan power dam and consequent loss of a very considerable stake by the province in both time and money is a reminder that human plans can miscarry and that no individual is infallible. Mr. Justice Clyne's report on the slide which carried away the work pulled no punches. The findings told of neglect of ordinary and reasonable precaution for which, with the importance of the project in mind, there was in his view little excuse. The resignation of the three-man B.C. Power Commission yesterday was perhaps the inevitable consequence of the Clyne report and of the underlying situation itself. Nor can one see how Premier Bennett could have acted otherwise than to accept the resignations.

While it will be the administration's responsibility to direct what will follow, there is evident an immediate need for tightening up the controls under which British Columbia is projecting itself into the power field with vast sums of borrowed capital. There was never intended to be any "profit" in that—other than the public weal—but also there cannot be room either for expensive mistakes such as the Whatshan debacle unfolded. While it is the commission which takes the first blame for the loss, having been in charge of the matter, the system too must bear some of the responsibility. No public body can be left to become virtually a law unto itself.

The Whatshan disaster is warning enough to the province to look again into the conduct of its power development. If the Whatshan site, so footed and buttressed by "expert" opinion, could be a mistake, and it was, what about the Buttle Lake project where a similar headlong drive is now being made to place a dam in a location which independent technical opinion advises against most strongly? Whether the personnel of the B.C. Power Commission is reinstated or a new group named, a much more sure-footed form of planning is necessary. Insofar as Buttle Lake is concerned, it has yet to be shown that a dam can or should be built at the site.

Closing the Door

THE new procedural by-law circulated among aldermen this week is the latest in the recent authoritarian trends at the City Hall. If passed by council it would close committee meetings to the public and in large measure to its representatives the press, restrict aldermanic inquiry and perhaps stifle their discussion, give the mayor undue power to dispose of communications, and wrap a mantle of secrecy around civic administration in many particulars. Following on the mayor's ban on the reading of certain letters on the flimsy ground of libel, and the veil he ordered thrown over correspondence reaching the City Hall, the emergence of this by-law seems significant.

The public would be the chief sufferers in any such extension of restrictive rule. Apart altogether from newspaper presentation or report the opportunities of ratepayers to follow civic matters at close hand would be sharply curtailed. In large degree they would be kept ignorant of much of what was going on. This of course would make a mockery of Mayor Harrison's initial election pledges of open discussion at all levels, undoubtedly a factor in placing him in the chief magistrate's chair.

Strong personality though he is the mayor is only one member of the aldermanic board, however. It is scarcely to be assumed that aldermen will abdicate their rights by submitting to a subordinate role, or that they favor a reversal of policy which would separate the public so severely from the administration of its own affairs. Without questioning the mayor's personal integrity, the by-law entrusts far too sweeping authority to the hands of any one elected official. It should not be allowed to pass in its present form.

Committee without a Job

IN the list of select standing committees of the British Columbia Legislature there is always one included to deal with labor matters. It never does. The committee exists in name only, and its appointment has been a mockery for years, since the committee never meets and consequently never has anything to report or suggest. Succeeding governments—Coalition, Liberal and now apparently Social Credit as well—have kept the House standing committee on labor inactive by the simple means of not giving it anything to inquire into. Under the rules of procedure a committee cannot do anything without instructions from the House in the form of a resolution.

This week the Social Credit members of the House defeated a motion from the opposition asking that briefs presented to the cabinet from management and trade union groups with reference to impending changes in the provincial labor code be referred to the labor committee for study. So it looks as if the government intends to follow the pattern set by its predecessors. This seems rather peculiar, especially in a session when the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act—virtually untouched since its original passage soon after the war—is to be revised from top to bottom.

Committees of the legislature consist of representatives of all parties, generally in proportion to their numerical standing in the House. If given the opportunity, most of them can and usually do perform a valuable service, particularly in the way of examination of and investigation into matters of public concern. In an industrial province like British Columbia one would think that a committee on labor would have a position of much importance, yet all along it has been rendered ineffectual. If that is the way things are to continue, it would be better to drop the committee from the list altogether, instead of maintaining a myth.

UNIVERSAL COLLECTION

Sir,—It seems to have escaped the notice of most of the public that about 20,000 persons have not been paying into the insurance fund, namely all the employees of the B.C. Telephone and C.P.R. companies, with members of the Christian Science Church.

We who have been paying right from the start, helped keep the insurance going also for all those unable to pay through lack of means. That is one of the main reasons why the scheme was so hard to make satisfactory to all of the willing payers.

I think the new way presented will force everyone to do their share. I do not earn very much but am quite willing to pay my five per cent knowing that nobody will be able to shirk it.

CANADIAN GRAVES

Sir—As you are, no doubt, aware in The Netherlands there are graves of many thousands of Canadian soldiers who gave their lives in 1944 and 1945 for the cause of freedom and for the liberation of my country.

I am taking this opportunity to write to you in order to draw your attention to a misunderstanding that has arisen from time to time in connection with the caring of Canadian graves in The Netherlands, the building of cemeteries and the erecting of tombstones.

During the war The Netherlands people considered it an honor to look after the Allied war graves, but on the liberation of our country the Imperial War Graves Commission took over this task. Since that time they have exercised the greatest devotion and care in the extension work of building the cemeteries, of tending the graves and of erecting the tombstones for the 20,000 members of the Commonwealth who gave their lives for the liberation of our country.

The contribution of the Imperial War Graves Commission is not, I am afraid, always realized in Canada, and it is to their efforts that I wish to draw attention. On its side The Netherlands Government, only as a small token of gratitude, has presented in perpetuity the land on which the cemeteries and graves are situated.

The Netherlands people foster the memory of Canadian war dead and, on Remembrance Day our children often lay flowers on the graves. However, I wish to make it clear that the outstanding work in the maintenance and care of the cemeteries has been performed by the Imperial War Graves Commission. The commission deserves, in all fairness, the appreciation and gratitude which is so often wrongly withheld from them.

I thought your readers migh be interested to know these facts.

THE SALES TAX

Sir,—Not much blunder about the proposed small addition to the sales tax, to cover the hospital plan. After all, it will only be 2% more than we have been paying for years. This method will affect everyone, rich and poor alike, in the exact proportion to what they can afford; yet all will equally participate, and with no exemptions.

This appears to be a really statesmanlike move, and that at last we have a government which approaches the Abraham Lincoln ideal as: "of the people, by the people, for the people."

"Have a care, sir"

Indian Village

By FRANK KELLEY

DISCUSSING some weeks ago an appropriate site for a self-supporting native village, if such a tourist attraction should be decided upon as really worth while, I suggested (and still believe) that if available the one-time B.C. Electric park would be the happiest choice in the immediate vicinity of Victoria as well as the most convenient to reach. On the edge of the water, backed by a fringe of forest, the location is admirable, while the project could be operated nicely by private individuals, either to the manner born or versed in the ways of business or money-making. Above all, it should function "on its own steam," financed by private interests, one is told.

Since that bit appeared in this space, some interested folk have talked with me by telephone, suggesting that if the Gorge site is not available and there are no other suitable tracts of land along that waterway which could be utilized, such an attraction for the many tourists drawn annually to this section of the Evergreen Playground ought to be established in some other easily reached location, preferably beside a stretch of protected shore.

Those who expressed their interest were keen to point out that the project should be self-supporting and a money-making venture with no dictation from outside bodies, municipal, provincial or federal. Only in such circumstances, it was reiterated, could such a venture hope to thrive. There shouldn't be any charge to visit the village just to "look see"; but each house could be the home of some native handicraft displayed for sale.

* * *

At the same time, and in between seasons, genuine native products could be turned out in wholesale quantities and shipped wherever markets could be had for the output of basket-work, blankets and various carvings of wood, stone and metal. All these at one time, when certain Victoria stores catered to this buying desire of tourists, were much in demand.

Others have suggested that if the Gorge site is not available for such a project (which they agree would be the ideal one) the next-best place in the vicinity of Victoria having a bit of seashore to front it and fir trees to shelter it should be the choice, all of which should give the southern end of Vancouver Island a stellar attraction with souvenirs made by clever hands well worth taking away as mementos of a day or two well spent in this nature-favored part of America.

It has been suggested in some quarters that an Indian village should be created on the site across the street from the Legislative Buildings, but this does not seem the proper place for it—although one wag has opined that it would be appropriate for any purpose if situated next door to the Legislative pile.

Lacking the necessary initiative or the interest of private enterprise in the idea of a native village close in to Victoria, the chief of the Songhees and his band might find ways and means of arranging for a small group of typical native houses on their reserve out Brentwood way. The Songhees would be able to turn out saleable articles to make the venture a going concern. Percy Ross, I believe, has intimated so to the local press; and one is confident that he is the man who could, if anyone can, operate a village of the right type and equipment for carrying out such a project.

Such a village would not be far out of the way either, if the tourists landed at Sidney or some spot on Saanich Inlet.

An Indian village should be popular in the proper surroundings, I am told, and I thank the tellers herewith for their candid comments.

Reports from Ottawa

IT'S beginning to look as though the government may soon review its position with respect to recognition of the Chinese Communist regime, but on certain conditions.

This suspicion has been heightened by Prime Minister St. Laurent's comments at recent press conferences in Delhi and Seoul, and is not allayed by views expressed either on or off the record by Foreign Minister Pearson and other foreign affairs specialists here.

The first condition is that which has been put forward frequently since the Korean armistice—that Red China withdraw from Korea and abstain from further acts of aggression there or elsewhere.

The second has been put into concrete form by the four-power decision to invite Red China to attend a conference at Geneva starting April 26 to consider peace in both Korea and Indo-China. This condition is that the Chinese Reds give indication at Geneva of a genuine desire to co-operate for the peaceful solution of Asia problems.

* * *

Pearson will be in Geneva, leading the Canadian delegation. He will be in a position to speak with some weight in view of Canada's contributions to the United Nations police action in Korea. He will also be in a position to size up China's attitude and something of China's intentions.

He has already said, at Strathroy, Ont., last June 23, that the recognition of Red China must be considered if a conference to settle the Korean War is held.

"Once we have decided to deal with China around a table," he said, "we shall have taken steps to recognize the facts of the situation."

Two weeks earlier, on June 12, St. Laurent had said that "We have got to be realistic on such problems and be prepared to deal with those who represent the nation over which they exercise authority."

* * *

In Delhi the PM approved the presence of the Chinese Reds rather than the Chinese Nationalists at Geneva, saying that "If China is to be there, it should be the government that China gives itself in fact. . . . The people of a country . . . have a right to determine what kind and form of government they should have . . ."

At Seoul he was quoted as having said that "Some day we will have to be realistic and admit that the government of China is the government that the people want." This reported assertion that the Chinese people "want" the Mao-tse-tung regime is not yet fully explained.

The government's self-proclaimed desire to recognize realities in China is unhappily a desire to recognize different realities from those which the American government and a large section of American opinion recognize when looking at the same set of facts. The difference springs from the conflict between the American belief that Communist China is merely a vassal of Russia, and the Anglo-Canadian belief that the new order in China is a social, economic and political development growing out of conditions there—not merely superimposed from the top, and not necessarily bound to Russia.

The trick is to wipe out this difference: to arrive at an assessment of the situation in China on which all Western partners can agree, and then proceed to implement a uniform policy. So far this has been impossible. The government is undoubtedly hoping that the Geneva conference will open American eyes, and pave the way for Canadian recognition of the however unwelcome fact of Mao-tse-tung without creating a rift between Ottawa and Washington.

Contempt of Court

(From The Toronto Telegram)

HON. Arthur Roebuck obtained Senate concurrence a few months ago in a Criminal Code amendment providing right of appeal from any sentence imposed for contempt in court. That would be such as committed by insolence, or by refusal to be sworn, or something of that kind. The theory is that the judge may be expected to know better than any one else whether or not the behavior of a witness is contemptuous, so there would be no appeal from the conviction. The amendment would provide right of appeal both from conviction and sentence in respect of contempt committed outside the court, such as by publication of a newspaper.

The present law, whereby the judge has absolute authority as to size of fine or length of imprisonment, is not one that should rest solely upon the discretion of one man, even a judge. Chief Justice McRuer, of the Ontario High Court Division, has himself expressed the opinion, in an address here, that the code ought to be revised to permit of appeal.

The absolute authority here described makes one man complainant, judge and jury. It is true that it has usually been exercised with good judgment, but it opens the way to abuse. The remedy ought to have been applied years ago, the current Criminal Code revision leaves Parliament with no excuse for further procrastination.

Close to the state line, an Alabama filling station sign read, "Mississippi Dead Ahead—Last Chance for 28-cent Gas," so the motorist told the man to fill her right up. After paying for the tankful he inquired casually, "How much is gas in Mississippi?" "Twenty-four cents," was the reply.

Rain lashed the castle windows and the wind howled mournfully as the timid guest was escorted to his room under the castle eaves. "Has anything unusual ever happened in this room?" he asked the sinister looking butler.

"Not for 40 years."

Heaving a sigh of relief, the guest asked, "What happened then?" The butler's eyes glittered ominously as he hissed, "A man who stayed here all night showed up the next morning."

The Packsack

BY GREGORY CLARK

THE most important lesson Canada can learn from the United States is in the field of managing the renewable natural resources of the country. By renewable resources is meant the forests, the wild land, wild life, fisheries and natural water sheds. In the United States to this day the con[illegible] sources, in many if not most of the individual states, is in the hands of separate departments of government or commissions. The natural pressure of politics on all government results, therefore, in a good deal of conflict between departments and commissions.

In Canada the trend towards a single departmental control of all the renewable resources is pretty complete. Its success in those provinces where it has been established will doubtless affect the entire country's attitude. It stands to reason that the forests and wild crown lands are the foundation of several other increasingly valuable resources: the watersheds and water-power supply, the wild life with its attraction for the rich tourist industry, and the summer cottage, an industry in itself, distinct from the tourist industry.

A summer cottage is no longer a privilege. At all income levels, Canadians feel they have a right to a summer home in their own holiday land. With this demand for cottage sites is growing an appreciation of the unspoiled and natural character of the forests and lakes—a sentiment that was not particularly evident in the Canadian public 40 years ago, when the conception of a summer home was a cottage in what might be called a semi-suburban community of cottages, around a lake, with all the conveniences and comforts of home.

The provincial governments now find that an increasing proportion of applicants for cottage sites want a wilderness atmosphere. They want roads, true. But their sympathies are moving in the direction the conservators of our forests and wild life cannot help but approve. If they want wilderness, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, the controllers of our forests, wild land, watersheds and wild life feel they are winning allies in what, even 20 years ago, looked like a losing battle.

Norway's Defense

THE Norwegian government has introduced a bill in Parliament proposing that the initial service period in the army be extended from 12 to 16 months. In the air force and the navy, the service period is 18 months.

Under the government proposal, former army soldiers would be called back for 30-day refresher exercises every third year, following the initial service period, with a maximum of four recalls. The proposed arrangement would start with the new class due to report for training at the end of March.

In the preface to the bill, the government notes that the NATO Council has urged an initial service period of 18 months for all branches of the defense establishment and Norwegian military authorities have done likewise. "These recommendations were accepted and supported in principle by the government.

In now proposing 18 months for the army, its primary objective has been to facilitate the establishment of two standing brigades, which the government considers as a minimum. This view, it emphasizes, is based on a Norwegian evaluation of what degree of preparedness is desirable. Considering Norway's geographic location and its policy of barring the admission of foreign military forces in time of peace, it is essential to make such an effort, says the government.

The bill now before Parliament observes that a major consideration in proposing an initial service period of 16 rather than 18 months, has been the importance of preserving the broad support of defense measures so notable since the war. It would greatly strengthen the defense effort, says the bill, if those parties which so far have co-operated on defense continue to do likewise in the future.

The preliminary basic training would be cut from six to four months, after which the conscripts would be transferred to standing forces. According to the NATO Council, the bill points out, a four-month period is held to be a minimum requirement for satisfactory basic training. With specialists constituting an ever larger proportion of the total defense forces, it might be necessary to continue the basic training during the first period in the standing brigades.

Under the government bill, conscripts now in the army would not be affected by the proposed extension. However, those who are due to report at the end of March this year would have to serve 16 months. With an estimated increase of 3,500 men in the standing forces, the government figures that the second standing brigade can be established in March, 1955.

Power Body Quits

government itself, in the opinion of Roderick Haig Brown, one of the leading opponents of the damming.

The Campbell River magistrate [illegible] day that the power situation on the Island had been completely changed by the BCE's decision to bring power from the Mainland by submarine cable.

"There is now no fear of the brown-out two years hence that so worried the B.C. power commission," he said.

In those circumstances he thought the government would be justified in "holding fire" on Buttle until a proper examination had been made to see if there were any suitable alternative for storing water.

"I am sure that there is," he declared.

"If the decision is left to the new power commission, as Mr. Bennett suggests, they would no doubt base their findings on information already available, although they might call in new engineering experts," Mr. Haig-Brown added.

He said that at the moment the engineering experts were at variance as to whether the proposed dam at Buttle would be effective.

"I am aware that the B.C. Power Commission needs extra water storage to keep its turbines at Elk Falls (Campbell River) going throughout the year but I think they can get that storage without raising Buttle above its present high-water mark," he maintained.

"All we ask is that fair and intelligent consideration should be given to all the evidence that has been submitted," said Hon. H. H. Stevens, QC, one of the leaders in the fight to preserve Buttle Lake.

He said if those conditions were imposed the premier would be doing the right thing in leaving the decision on Buttle to the new power commission.

At the same time he said the government should insist on a complete review of the Buttle Lake situation.

"Although I have not seen the report of last year's drilling at the proposed dam site, I believe that the engineers' opinions differed," he said.

So far as the conservationists are concerned nothing had changed. Their opinion is that sufficient evidence had been submitted in the past to prove it was not wise to go ahead with Buttle Lake.

"But the government went ahead despite this evidence," went on Mr. Stevens. "Now after the Clyne report I certainly think they should reopen the matter."

Questioned by telephone on persistent reports of seepage at the John Hart dam site on Campbell River, only about four miles from the village of Campbell River, Mr. Haig Brown was cautious.

There had been no great amount of water coming through the fill, he said.

But from time to time non-professional observers have reported this seepage and there has been some suspicion among nearby residents that the strength of the dam installations are not all they might be.

In the light of the Whatshan accident and the Clyne report the confidence of the public in commission reassurances may have been shaken, up-Island residents of the area feel.

In Victoria officials at the commission offices were not prepared to comment on any phase of developments.

But some guardedly admitted that they faced a difficult period without an authority to approve pressing work orders or even to authorize payment of bills and salaries.

The B.C. Power Commission was established in 1945 under Mr. Weston's chairmanship. In its brief life span it has rapidly expanded into 2? power districts throughout the province. It serves more than 52,000 customers on Vancouver Island, operates in the North Okanagan, Peachland-Westbank, Quesnel, Sechelt, Smithers, Terrace, Queen Charlotte Islands, Fort St. James, Vanderhoof and Williams Lake, Burns Lake, Clinton, Dawson Creek, Golden, Hazelton, Houston, Kamloops, Lake Windermere, Merritt and Nakusp.

Practiced Pair in Totem Comedy

When scholarly Claude, son of a well-to-do family, plants a preoccupied kiss on Gladys, the maid in Totem Theatre's current presentation of "George and Margaret," he needs no coaching. Off-stage, Gladys and Claude are Barbara and Neil McLeod, long married.

New Totem Play Real Good Fun

BY MAURY GWYNNE

Not the wittiest, but by far the funniest show ever put on by Totem Theatre is currently playing.

"George and Margaret," although they are never seen, make uproarious fun, and tremendous upheaval in a staid, but rather eccentric British family, living in London.

The two outstanding characters of the story are Malcolm the father played by Sam Payne and Claude the stuffy designer son played by Neil McLeod.

In these roles, the actors outstripped any previous performances they have given in Victoria.

EASY CHANGE

Payne, who has become associated with the cynical playboy role dropped easily into this loveable, but rather vague fatherly style with little trouble.

His mannerisms were so well portrayed it would be hard for a newcomer to the theatre to believe he is not the middle-aged, absent-minded type he plays.

McLeod, who has quickly become a favorite with Totem audiences is the biggest stuffed shirt to walk the Totem boards to date.

If there weren't a good high jump up to that stage he would have been kicked by someone in the audience long before the end of the first act.

FINE PERFORMANCE

It was an excellent performance.

The other characters in the story are something to behold. As the sophisticated, but rather confused young lady living at a fast pace, Norma Macmillan clicked from the first curtain.

Her dense, but loveable brother, Dudley, played by Stuart Baker, is funny, fast and almost a Noel Coward character.

The large-scale grin that normally wreaths Mr. Baker's face did as much as anything to keep the audience laughing all through three acts.

The snobbish, addle-brained mother was played by Rosemary Malkin, and it's a little hard to believe that isn't her normal way of life. She convinced and amused the happy audience.

FAST-PACED SHOW

This whole show is fast-paced and comes to a resounding climax with the new maid, Beer, played by Kitty Dutcher, taking over from her predecessor, Gladys, portrayed by Barbara Jay McLeod.

Totem Theatre will anchor itself solidly in Victoria if it continues with shows the calibre of this one. Once you see this you'll be sold for good on live theatre.

Liberal MLAs Urged To Back Gorge Plan

Liberal MLA's have been urged by the Esquimalt District Provincial Liberal Association to support dredging and beautifying of the Gorge.

The proposal was put forward by Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow, staunch backer of the Gorge as the "Venice of Vancouver Island."

Alderman Edgelow said that the silt in the channel could be removed by suction dredging, and the silt used to build up the banks for lawns and parking areas.

There is the nucleus of a good park area to start with in the B.C. Electric Park on the Gorge.

About 80 per cent of the people of Turkey are engaged in agricultural occupations.

Peter Pan Story Ice Show Feature

The story of Peter Pan promises to be one of the most spectacular acts in the Ice Capers of 1954 at Memorial Arena next Friday and Saturday, Victoria Figure Skating Club officials said yesterday.

With a cast of more than 300 city children, all under the age of 12, the ice fantasy will follow closely the original story.

Rehearsals started in January.

One of the major tasks proved to be the costuming. That, too, was started in January.

All the boys in the club will take the part of wild jungle beasts. The little lost children will be played by girls between the ages of three and six, and all other children are aged between six and 12 years old.

Producer of Peter Pan is Mary [illegible]

There are 14 acts in Ice Capades of 1954. Star of the show will be twice-Olympic champion Dick Button.

J. Anthony Funeral On Monday

He left Victoria in August, 1914, with the 88th Fusiliers, which later became the 7th Battalion, First Canadian Division. He was long in action with the Canadian Corps, and was seriously wounded.

Following his return he was employed at the Empress and Glenshiel Hotels.

CHURCH SERVICE

Mr. Anthony was a member of St. Barnabas' Church. Funeral services will be held at the church Monday at 10:30 a.m., Rev. Canon E. Nunn officiating. Cremation will follow.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Constance M. Anthony and Miss Winnifred Anthony, both of Victoria, and two nieces, Mrs. Harold Craven, of Victoria and Mrs. John Logan, of Halifax.

Jake Scores In Comeback

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla (AP)—Former middleweight boxing champion Jake La Motta 169¾, The Bronx, N.Y., knocked out Johnny Pretzie, 158, Boston in 1.42 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Legion Arena here Thursday night.

It was La Motta's first fight in a comeback try. He had not fought since December, 1952.

The Arctic Ocean covers about 5,500,000 square miles, nearly half of it covered by icefields.

Speedboaters Set Island Racing Dates

Speedboat racers from Victoria, Nanaimo, Alberni and Vancouver drew up the schedule for regattas this year at a recent meeting at Nanaimo and four of the eight meets have been scheduled on Vancouver Island.

The annual May 24 regatta will be held at Willows Beach and the Labor Day meet will also be held at Willows Beach. A regatta has been scheduled at Sproat Lake July 17-18, and one at Departure Bay, September 5.

Other regattas scheduled are: July 3-4, Vancouver Gold Cup at Cultus Lake; May 30, Seattle; August 7-8, Seattle Gold Cup, Lake Washington and August 11-14, Kelowna.

Ski Instructor Plans School In Island Area

Frank Jensen, resident ski instructor at Forbidden Plateau and winner of this year's Vancouver Island championship downhill event, has started plans to establish a permanent ski school at the popular up-Island skiing centre.

Jensen, who has instructed at resorts in Switzerland, Italy and New Zealand feels that the Forbidden Plateau area, near Courtenay, has the best skiing on Vancouver Island, and that the area has tremendous possibilities for further development.

Born in Norway, Jensen has had wide experience both as an instructor and a competitor and was New Zealand's North Island champion last year. He left New Zealand last September and sailed here aboard a yawl, "Stortebecker III," with an English friend, stopping at some of the Pacific Islands on the way.

King Maple Plate Favorite

TORONTO (CP)—The colt King Maple, owned by Mrs. Gordon McMacken of Toronto, is a 7-to-5 favorite for the Queen's Plate June 12 at Woodbine Park here in the latest winter book odds. King Maple was the Canadian juvenile champion of 1953.

E. P. Taylor's colt, Queen's Own, is the second choice at 3-to-1. Third choice at 8-to-1 is Hi Laude owned by Dr. H. Appleby of Vancouver. Hi Laude ran second to King Maple in the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine last autumn after winning the Winnipeg Futurity.

Parks Board Advocated For Greater Victoria

Formation of a Greater Victoria Parks Board to ensure that Saanich and Esquimalt are paying a just share of the cost of parks in the metropolitan area, was advocated yesterday by Doug Fletcher, president of the Victoria Sports Council.

Mr. Fletcher told aldermen that Saanich and Esquimalt are not providing sufficient playing fields for young amateur athletes.

"The sooner we get a Greater Victoria parks board, the same as the Greater Victoria School board, the better it is for all concerned," he said.

PRESSURE URGED

He told the parks committee that pressure should be put on Saanich to bear a share of the cost of developing Topaz Park, located near the northern limit of the city. Saanich people will benefit from the park, he said.

Committee members gave a sympathetic reception to the requests of the sports council president and assurance was given that every consideration would be given his requests.

Three important meetings between Christians and Buddhists have recently been held in Ceylon. The purpose is to give the followers of each religion an understanding of the aspirations and teachings of the other

Church Marks 28th Year of Union

Anniversary services celebrating the 28th year since the union of the former Hampshire Road Methodist and St. Columba's Presbyterian congregations will be held at Oak Bay United Church Sunday.

The present church building, which stands at the corner of Granite and Mitchell, was dedicated on November 8, 1911, when the preacher was Rev. E. A. Henry of Vancouver.

In 1926 it became the home of the two uniting congregations. This move followed, within a year, the consummation of Church Union which resulted in the United Church of Canada.

Sales of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible have passed the 2,500,000 mark, including more than 2,000 pulpit Bibles and 222,000 copies of the illustrated edition. Commenting on the new translations now in progress by both Protestant and Roman Catholic scholars in the United Kingdom, and on the work being done on a revision of Luther's German Bible, Dr. Luther A. Weigle, chairman of the Standard Bible Committee in the United States, said that owing to the discovery in recent years of previously unknown and very ancient manuscripts, we now have a more accurate knowledge of what the original text of the Scriptures was than any former generation.

The first native Roman Catholic Bishop of Nigeria, the Most Rev. Dominic I. Ekandem, who was consecrated at the age of 37, after only seven years in the priesthood, was born in a harem, of pagan parents, but was sent by his father, a progressive African chief, to a mission school, where he accepted Christianity and was baptized.

The parish hall of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Ottawa, has been named "Jefferson Hall," in honor of the Right Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa, who was rector of the parish from 1927 until his consecration in 1939. Dr. Jefferson is retiring from active work this spring.

The National Council of Churches in the U.S. has issued a pamphlet entitled "The Churches and the Problem of Narcotics Addiction," prepared by Dr. Paul L. The January issue of the Journal of the Patriarchate of the Orthodox Church in Moscow shows that an attempt is being made to maintain a strict spiritual discipline in Russian Orthodoxy. All secular music is banned, as are artificial lighting effects. Electric lighting is permitted, but not as a substitute for the traditional candles, which from ancient times have been an aid to devotion. The Journal also states that the Russian Church will follow attentively the ecumenical movement, especially as it will express itself in the Evanston assembly of the World Council of Churches.

Bishop F. R. Barry of Southwell, whose books and public utterances have shown that he is in touch with contemporary thinking, particularly in the social and economic field, has stated that it is false to speak of Britain as a pagan country, adding, "It is deeply and pervasively Christianized, and when everything has been said on the other side, it is probably true that the Christian potential is stronger here than anywhere else in the West."

Roman Catholic Church authorities have approved the establishment in Toronto of Croatian parish dedicated to the Blessed Virgin. The parish hall will be named in honor of the spiritual leader of the Croats in Yugoslavia, Cardinal Stepinac, who was deprived of his functions by the Tito administration.

Evans, 29-year-old Presbyterian, minister, the youngest member of the board of directors of the Brooklyn Division of the Protestant Council, has been chosen by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as "the outstanding young man of Brooklyn for 1953." He is the first clergymen to have been honored with this distinction.

Fred Willis, a motor mechanic and deputy churchwarden of Bournemouth, England, heard Dr. Donald Marsh, the Anglican Bishop of the Arctic, preaching at St. Mark's, Bournemouth, and later drove the bishop to another church. Now he and Mrs. Willis are coming to Canada, where he will be engineer at the hospital, school and cathedral at Aklavik, and will assist in the mission work.

Now that the Quebec legislature has voted unanimously to grant a university charter to the St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, which will become Sherbrooke University, the number of universities in Quebec will be increased to six. Like Laval and the University of Montreal, the new institution will be Roman Catholic, while Bishop's University at Lennoxville is Anglican, and McGill and Sir George Williams College in Montreal are undenominational.

Wheeler (13) of Chemainus and Vancouver player wait intently for possible developments. Pictured action occurred during first-round game in British Columbia Bantam Basketball Tournament, which continues today at S. J. Willis High School.

Action was somewhat crowded on S. J. Willis High School floor last night as this play was pictured during girls' game between Vancouver Kitsilano and Saanichton Copley Brothers. Kitsilano's Arlene Clark (12) seems to be enjoying tussle for ball but Saanichton's Kathleen Callender (11), Letda Mitchell (9) and unidentified teammate on right seem deadly serious while Kits' Pat Goulay (5) looks on.

Eilers Take 2-1 Lead In B.C. Hoop Playoff

VANCOUVER (CP) — With Nev Munro supplying the necessary spark Eilers took a two-one lead in the best-of-seven senior men's B.C. basketball final here Friday night by stopping a fighting Alberni squad 69-65.

Fourth game of the series goes Saturday night, with the fifth scheduled for Monday.

Outside of the first quarter in which both sides decided to employ the zone defense, the game provided the full house with plenty of fireworks.

Referees Hugh Marshall and Gummy Leach were always on top of the play and their calls didn't always go over well with the players.

ONE-HANDED SHOTS

Munro was practically the whole show insofar as Eilers were concerned.

He finished with 18 points — most of his baskets coming via his specialty, a one-handed shot from well out.

Led by their playing coach Elmer Speidel Alberni provided Eilers with all the opposition they could handle and were in the battle throughout.

SPEIDEL STARRY

Speidel had a field night, scoring 22 points and playing a useful game all around. He received able assistance from Harry Kermode, Doug Brinham and Joe Samarin.

Alberni used its over all height to good advantage throughout and for the most part controlled both backboards. Jumping Samarin had more bounce to the ounce than the entire Eilers squad.

For the most part, there was never any more than four points separating the clubs. Eilers held a slight edge in the first half with Alberni [illegible] late in the third to stay in front until 3:18 of the final when Munro squared matters at 60-60.

Munro then converted two free throws and though hard-pressed by the Athletics John Forsyth's squad managed to keep one step ahead of the visitors.

Lineups follow:

Eilers—Munro 18, Forsythe, Powell 21, Moser 5, Manning, Ball 1, Chapman, Wall 8, Mitchell 10, Hindmarch 1. Total 69.

Alberni—Keith Williamson 1, Greer, Bros [illegible], Moode, Orlando, Speidel 22, Kermode 6, Samarin 1, Brinham 10. Total 65.

Victoria College, Totems Meet in Tournament Final

Victoria High School Totems, newly-crowned Vancouver Island high school basketball champions, and Victoria College gained the finals of the fourth inter-scholastic basketball tournament at Victoria High School gym last night.

Marking time until the B.C. high school championships at Vancouver next week, Totems romped to an easy 63-42 victory over a hustling Royal Roads team. Victoria College had a tougher time of it, edging past St. Louis College 40-37 on the strength of a four-quarter rally.

It was the fourth straight year that Totems had reached the final, and Porky Andrews' quintet will be seeking their third championship and the Times Trophy when they meet College at 8:30 tonight. St. Louis College and Royal Roads meet in the opener at 7:30 p.m. to decide third and fourth positions.

St. Louis College made things rough for their highly-rated opponents and held a 30-27 lead going into the final quarter before the winners pulled it out. Al Snowsell, a member of Scott & Peden Vancouver Island junior champions, paced the winners with 12 points while Andy Rittich topped the losers with 14.

Totems had little trouble with Royal Roads despite a brilliant display by Earl Binnie who scored 17 points. Waldo Skillings, Jr., youngest member of the Totems, paced the winners with 11 points and Ed Pederson and Den Perry added 10 apiece.

A free shot competition was held last night with Ed Pederson tossing 14 out of 20 and Snowsell hooping 20 in a row. They will meet in the final tonight.

Rugged Grind Scheduled Today For Bantam Basketball Crowns

Play in the second annual British Columbia bantam basketball championships got away to a good start yesterday but the 20 teams entered in both the boys' and girls' divisions will get down to a rugged grind at S. J. Willis Junior High gym this morning.

Six of the 26 games were completed last night with defending girls' champions Vancouver Majorettes advancing to the second round along with Alberni Athletics and Saanichton Copley Bros. Two teams—Victoria Eaglettes and Parksville—didn't see any action last night but will open today's card at 11 a.m.

ALBERNI WINS

Campbell River put up a strong fight against the Majorettes but dropped a 33-29 decision. Saanichton Copley Bros. downed Kitsilano "A" team by a 14-8 count with Arlene Clark scoring all of the losers' points. Alberni became the third team to enter the second round, drubbing Lake Cowichan High School, 27-12.

In boys' play, six of the 12 teams saw action, with Alberni, Lake Cowichan and Vancouver Vindex Club all scoring decisive victories.

Alberni looked the most impressive in rolling to a 47-22 victory over Kamloops. Vindex Club topped Chemainus, 44-31, and Lake Cowichan trounced Nanaimo "Bill Hermans" by a 34-6 count.

Phils Seek Billy Cox In Trade with Brooks

A three-way deal between the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Redlegs appeared in the making Friday after Buzzie Bavasi, vice-president of the Brooklyn club, spent the day in conference with Bob Carpenter, president of the Phils, and Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds. Bavasi admitted that the names of several players were discussed.

"We have been approached by the Phillies for either one of three infielders — Billy Cox, Bobby Morgan and Don Hoak," Bavasi said. "They made us cash offers and also mentioned several players, none of whom we are interested in. Neither are we interested in a cash deal," he added.

Paul Benson, a pitcher with no professional experience throttled New York Yankees for four innings and gained credit for Philadelphia Phillies' 2-1 victory over the world champions Friday. A two-run homer by Del Ennis off Whitey Ford produced the winning tallies in the first inning.

It was also reported that the Dodgers were trying to include Cox in a deal that would bring Phils' centrefielder Richie Ashburn to Brooklyn.

Willie Mays sparked New York Giants to a 13-5 victory over Cleveland Indians Friday by slamming two successive home runs off Cleveland ace Mike Garcia to snap a four-game Giant losing streak.

BY JIM TANG

Striking quickly for a lead and hanging on tenaciously against continued pressure, a scrappy band of Victoria Cougars edged past the Saskatoon Quakers, 4-3, in a Western Hockey League game played before a crowd of 4,540 at Memorial Arena last night.

Victory ended a two-game losing streak for the Islanders, boosted their fifth-place margin over New Westminster Royals to four points and kept alive hopes of improving their present position. With a game in hand the Cougars are only three points behind the fourth-place Edmonton Flyers but third place seems out of reach with the Quakers five points ahead and each club having four games left.

Cougars, who would have been third now had they not lost to Seattle Bombers and Royals in their two previous games, wind up their home schedule against Vancouver Monday, then finish out with their last Prairie tour. If they can catch the Flyers they will meet the Quakers in the playoff quarter-finals. If they wind up fifth it will be the second-place club, either Canucks or Calgary, likely the latter.

DEFENSE HOLDS

Playing their first game without steady Sam Lavitt on defense the Cougars turned in a strong defensive effort last night and made the most of their scoring chances. The three-man defensive unit, led by a fine performance from Ross Lowe and with the improving Tony Schneider holding up his end, stood up extremely well with the wingers on all three lines attending to their checking chores throughout.

Up front, it was the aggressive Gene Achtymichuk-Colin Kilburn-Bill Sinnett line which did most of the scoring. Kilburn scored his 21st and 22nd goals of the season, one at 14 seconds of the first period and the other at 10 seconds of the second and helped out on his line's third scoring effort. Sinnett had a goal and two assists while Achtymichuk was credited with three assists.

The Billy Reay-Doug Anderson-Andy Hebenton unit was strong defensively with Anderson turning on more speed than he has shown for a time, coming up with what was probably his best game of the season. Ed Dorohoy and linemates Alex Kuzma and Sam Bettio were closely checked and Dorohoy dropped back in the race with Guyle Fielder for the league scoring title by being held pointless.

EVANS GOOD AGAIN

And of course there was chunky little Claude Evans who turned in another good effort in the nets and who particularly caught the eye in the third period as he held the pressing Quakers to one goal.

Sinnett's scrappiness set up the first goal which undoubtedly decided the game. For, before the Quakers got themselves untracked, they were trailing by 3-0 and could never quite catch up.

Sinnett poked the puck across the Saskatoon blue line, followed up fast to battle it away from a defenceman and then found Kilburn uncovered on the left side with his pass.

The next time out, this line struck again with Kilburn [illegible] the puck goalwards from the left boards and [illegible] who was standing in front of goalie Chuck Rayner apparently deflecting it. Reg Abbott made it 3-0 with the Quakers shorthanded as the Cougars finally clicked on a power play which had been ineffective for more than three minutes as Quaker [illegible] served the penalties.

KILBURN AGAIN

The [illegible] there and clever Jackie McLeod, then most dangerous forward [illegible] break. [illegible] in a smart game, intercepted a Saskatoon pass at [illegible] seconds of the second period and drove what proved to be the winning goal past Rayner.

Quakers got one back before the second period was over and fans saw some entertaining hockey in the wide-open last 20 minutes. Cougars defended desperately and broke away on occasion to make Rayner hop. Evans made two point-blank saves just after George Senick had sliced the margin to a single goal and then saved brilliantly at the 11-minute mark when Vic Howe, standing at the edge of the crease, tried to turn in a pass to balk the visitors on their best chances to tie.

Canucks Drub Royals; Bombers Tie Stamps

Vancouver Canucks moved a step closer to the Western Hockey League championship at Vancouver last night by drubbing New Westminster Royals 8-2 while their season-long rivals, Calgary Stampeders, were held to a 4-4 deadlock by the last-place Seattle Bombers.

Results moved Vancouver into first place one point ahead of the Stampeders who scored two goals in the last two minutes and the tying marker with 11 seconds remaining to salvage a point against the pesky Bombers. However the Canucks have four games remaining while the Stampeders have three left.

DOUG ADAM STARS

Doug Adam had his best game since joining the Canucks recently from Saskatoon, scoring twice and adding two assists. Billy Dea also got two goals while Chuck McCullough, Jack Lancien, Larry Popein and Harry Dick added singletons.

Blinky Boyce scored for the Royals in the first period and Ollie Dorohoy got their other goal in the final frame.

It was a come-from-behind victory for the desperate Stampeders. Seattle held a 2-1 first-period lead and went ahead 4-2 in the second frame before Jim McFadden brought the Stamps to within one goal at 18:01 of the final period and Frank Ashworth got the equalizer with 11 seconds remaining.

FIELDER MAKES GAIN

Seattle's Guyle Fielder took a strong hold on first place in the individual scoring race, scoring twice and adding two assists to boost his point total to 81. Teammate Wayne Brown got his 47th and 48th goals and added one assist to move into second place, five points behind the clever centre. Victoria's Ed Dorohoy, who was held off the scoresheet, is third with 77 points.

England Gains Cricket Lead

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—The Marylebone Cricket Club touring team 331 for 8 gained a two-run lead over Trinidad 329 by the third day of their five-day match closed here Friday night.

The tourists gained this advantage mainly because of an innings of 111 by Willie Watson.

In first class matches Watson now has played 11 innings, once not out, for an average of ex[illegible] 80 on this tour.

This was his fourth century of the tour and only the seventh by the MCC. No other player has hit more than one.

Britons Believe Pirie Made Right Decision In Passing Up Games

BY ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—Gordon Pirie was on the right track when he elected to keep Britain's best known set of running legs away from the Empire Games at Vancouver, says a newspaper poll.

Pro-Pirie sentiment was in the majority in letters published by the Daily Herald, which had asked its 1,864,511 readers what they thought about the Pirie decision. Gordon, 23, said he preferred to save his lean frame for the European Games at Berne, Switzerland, late in August when he hopes to conquer Emil (the iron Czech) Zatopek in the 10,000 metres.

"It would be pointless of Pirie to go to Vancouver just to 'show the flag'" said a typical sympathetic answer. "Surely any Canadian would be the first to acclaim a British win over Zatopek at the expense of the British Empire Games."

STRONG ENTRY

Beside the theory that "Pirie can do more for Britain in Europe than in Canada" was the argument that he won't be needed at Vancouver.

"We have great runners like Ken Norris, Frank Sando . . . Chris Chataway and Roger Bannister," said one citizen. "Pirie won't be missed at Vancouver."

Runner Norris said he felt the same way. His letter asked: "Why should Pirie go to Vancouver?" Since Pirie had planned to run in the mile, and Bannister and others could probably handle any opposition that was on hand, Norris felt Pirie should conserve his strength.

European competition will be "much tougher" than at Vancouver, said Norris. "We cannot afford to have a tired man representing our country," he added, referring to the time gap between the Empire Games and the Berne event. The Empire Games run July 30-August 7 and the European Games begin August 25.

PERSONAL PROJECT

Among contrary views, one writer didn't doubt that Pirie can beat anybody, but he figured the lanky runner needs to convince himself that he can "take" Zatopek and that he is in danger of "beating himself with this terrific concentration on one event."

Pirie's latest training schedule reflects the advice he got from his German coach, who said Pirie's heart is immature. Pirie now plans only a couple of six mile competitive runs before the European Games. Presumably, however, he will continue the [illegible] in progressing toward the Zatopek meeting.

NINO VALDES

Nino Valdes Loses Favor Despite Win over Parker

BY JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UP)—Cuban Nino Valdes weakened ex-Canadian James J. Parker with hooks to the midstructure and outmauled him for a unanimous 10-round decision Friday night in their very dull skirmish of heavyweight skyscrapers before 4,173 in Madison Square Garden.

Neither of the two tallest opponents in television history did anything to indicate he had a chance against champion Rocky Marciano.

Each of the boys towered six feet three inches, and the ring creaked under the combined weight of Valdes' 211½ pounds and Parker's 210. But neither demonstrated dynamite to match their altitude and tonnage.

MAY LOSE RANKING

Valdes, the world's second-ranking heavyweight contender, lost prestige and perhaps his standing in the nationally televised and broadcast bout, which was booed lustily and often in the last half.

Unranked Parker, who now lives in Paterson, N.J., started off as if to give the big Cuban serious trouble, particularly in the second and third rounds. But he weakened under Nino's close-quarter hooks and was tired and sloppy in the late going.

There were no knockdowns. Parker bled slightly from the mouth and had large swellings on his left cheek and temple.

MADE MISTAKE

Parker might have done better had he stuck to his usual style of blazing away with straight rights. But he made the mistake of trying to outbox Nino and he did most of his landing with left jabs and left hooks.

Valdes, a 4-1 favorite, had been expected to knock out the awkward ex-lumberjack. Nino said in the dressing room he might have done it had he not suffered an injured right hand in the fourth round.

Because of Parker's stuff-off in the last half of the bout there was no question of the winner. The three ring officials favored Valdes on rounds as follows: Referee Barney Felix, 7-3; Judge Artie Schwarz, 7-2-1; Judge Jack Gordon, 6-3-1. The United Press favored Nino, 6-3-1.

Jons Triumphs; Thunderbird In Rough Bout

Dave Jons, after dropping the first fall, came back to take the next two and defeat Sweden's Lou Stoberg in a winner-take-all main event before a good crowd at the Victoria Ballroom Thursday night.

It was the first of a series of bouts to determine an opponent for world champion Lou Thesz, in a championship bout here sometime in May.

The semi-main event between Con Bruno, substituting for Negro wrestler Frank James, who was unable to appear because of transportation difficulties, and Chief Thunderbird, provided most of the fireworks.

Bruno, making his first appearance here in two years, gave Thunderbird a rough time and the Chief eventually retaliated. The newly-formed Victoria Sports Commission stepped in and stopped the bout—second time they have done so in three weeks—and Thunderbird was disqualified. A rematch has been set for next week.

In the opener, Victoria fireman Dave Pye turned in a good showing but lost to drop-kick artist Claire Robinson.

Dick Ockwell scored the only goal of the game midway through the first half and, although Esquimalt enjoyed a big edge in the second half, Mt. Douglas' defense held out.

On Thursday, Oak Bay High moved into second place by blanking Esquimalt 4-0 at Esquimalt. Bill Sanderson scored twice for the winners who held a 2-0 lead at half time while Doug Stewart and Fred Wooster added one goal apiece.

Alberni's Mixed Bonspiel Gets Under Way Today

PORT ALBERNI—A full entry of 24 rinks will be competing for three trophies in the first annual Alberni Valley Curling Club mixed bonspiel, which gets under way this morning.

Competition will be for the Woodward Trophy in the Grand Challenge event, the Wilf Souther Trophy in the secondary event and the Eaton consolation award. The 'spiel is unique in the fact that while all rinks must be skipped by women, two men are allowed on each rink.

ONE VICTORIA RINK

Mrs. Margaret Diament is the only Victoria rink in the 'spiel. Other visiting rinks include Mrs. Doris Fiss, Mrs. Pat Goode, Mrs. Irene Schrob, and Miss Frances Shaw of Nanaimo, Mrs. Ida Coates and Mrs. Min Holme, Parksville, and Mrs. Vera Browne and Mrs. Jean Sandness of Vancouver.

Port Alberni rinks are skipped by Mrs. Helen Hedman, Mrs. Ada Mayne, Miss Freda Paulson, Mrs. Edna Souther, Mrs. Heather Davis, Mrs. Margaret Osborne, Mrs. Mary Jameson, Mrs. Marge Michell, Miss Dot Lloyd, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. P. Kjerstad, Miss Gladys Skinne, Mrs. Mary Balmer and Mrs. Effie McCullough.

Haney Runner Takes Cross-Country Crown

Running easily and showing no sign of fatigue at the finish, Ray Hampton of Haney's Maple Ridge High School yesterday breezed to the Vancouver Island junior cross-country championship at Victoria High School, topping a field of 31 and setting a new record in the process.

Hampton, who is British Columbia junior cross-country champion, completed the five-mile course in 26 minutes and two seconds, knocking eight seconds off the mark established last year by Mike Chambers of Victoria High.

Chambers, one of the pre-race favorites, set the pace for the first mile but suffered a stitch that forced him to drop back and he finally wound up in sixth position. Brian Parry-Whittingham of Oak Bay High finished second, almost 70 yards behind Hampton, while Jim Pickup was the first Victoria High runner to cross the line, finishing third.

The event was sanctioned this year for the first time by the British Columbia Track and Field Association and was recognized as the Vancouver Island championship. An official of the association made the trip from Vancouver and acted as timekeeper.

Fourteen of the 31 entered were from Victoria High and the city institution which hasn't lost a team competition for the past two years placed six of the first 10 runners. There were four runners each from Maple Ridge and Victoria College, eight from Belmont High School and one from Oak Bay High.

Hampton took over the lead after about a mile-and-a-half of the rugged course and put on a blistering drive in the last 200 yards to win easily. It had been a three-way fight until then with Parry-Whittingham showing surprising strength and staying into contention until the home stretch.

Art Parfitt, an official of the Canadian Legion which sponsored the third annual event presented three trophies and 12 consolation awards to the runners at the conclusion of the race, which attracted a large crowd.

University of British Columbia's chief threat, John Birch, was unable to make the trip because of a foot injury.

First 10 runners follow:

1. Hampton, Maple Ridge 2. Parry-Whittingham, Oak Bay 3. Jim Pickup, [illegible] College 5. [illegible] Renfrew, Victoria High 6. Mike Chambers, Victoria High 7. Dan Miller, Victoria High 8. Bill Christiansen, Victoria High, 9. Al Blakey, Victoria High 10. Bill Galling, Victoria College.

Western Oils Strong Spot In Markets

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mixed.

Western oils closed stronger and uraniums and Bathurst area base metals were steady. [illegible]

Papers, steels, foods and refining oils led industrials lower as they slipped in mixed trading with volumes at a moderate level. The only feature was Bell, which slipped $1 in active trading.

Base metals were down as seniors gradually gave way in profit taking pressure. Juniors were about even in dull, cautious trading.

In western oils Pacific and Great Plains led several others in a higher move. Gains ranged to 30 cents and losses were mostly small.

Golds were a little lower as all categories dropped slightly but volumes were light.

Industrials Gain

MONTREAL (CP)—Stock market prices were irregularly higher.

Dominion Glass and Rolland Paper were each one point stronger at 39 and 34, respectively. Dosco tossed up ⅜ at 11½ and Canadian Breweries was ⅜ better at 23½. Stelco chalked up a ⅜ point gain at 29½.

Miscellaneous industrials, steels, papers and banks were higher while beverages, senior oils and carriers were mixed.

Mines were higher at the close and trading was light. Labrador gained 25 cents at $8.90 and Canadian Collieries 20 cents at $9.20.

Western oils leaned forward. Canadian Oil moved up 50 cents at $1.15, Pacific Petroleums 37 cents at $10.12, Calvan 25 cents at $4.80 and Federated Petroleums 20 cents at $1.45.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Gilt edged securities provided the main features in an otherwise quiet but generally firm stock market.

Widespread gains of more than 5s were registered in the long-dated stocks while some of the irredeemables were also good.

The foreign bond section was quiet but recent gains in Japanese were maintained.

Canadian Pacific Railway and other dollar stocks responded to Wall Street's advance and oils continued to move ahead with Shell and Royal Dutch improving on prospects of being listed on Wall Street.

Coppers continued to advance while other base metals were steady to firm. Golds tended lower.

Pep Talk Cheers Business Groups

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The "human dynamo" got to work yesterday and more or less convinced 150 staid Victoria business men that times were never so good and they're going to be better yet.

The archangel of optimism was Robert A. Whitney, president of National Sales Executive Inc., a long [illegible] [illegible]eting New Yorker who would undoubtedly have no difficulty in selling a bag of sand to a Bedouin arab or an ice-box to an Eskimo.

Speaking to members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the local chapter of the Sales Executive Club Mr. Whitney took the theme that a depression in the United States today was impossible.

"It doesn't look that way when you read the headlines on the papers or when you listen to the economic experts," said Mr. Whitney. "But since 1947 the experts have been wrong 82 per cent of the time."

General Motors were on the point of putting another $1,500,000,000 into their business and "I would rather put my money on them than on the economists," he said.

Here are some of the high lights of his wise-cracking oration:

"Some of the automobile firms are going through a rough time, but there's nothing that good sales management couldn't cure."

"In 1939 6 per cent of the U.S. people had incomes of more than $3,000, now 60 per cent are paid more than $3,000 a year. What a market to sell goods to."

"We have out-Marxed Marx. He dreamed of a workman's paradise through socialism; but we are the nation which has been able to do it. We have produced a workers' capitalism."

[illegible] man in a bathtub of gasoline trying to light a couple of matches. The trick is lighting the second match."

"The difference between democracy and Communism is that Communism does not have a sales club."

"Every 11 days a new family the size of Victoria is born in the United States."

"Kids sell products. What father with a child between four and 10 years eats the kind of food he likes for breakfast?"

"It used to take five farmers to feed one person, now with mechanism one farmer can feed five people."

"We are too well educated to have a recession or depression."

"There's more power below the hood of the average car than there was in the average factory 60 years ago."

"The people want a 35-hour working week to enjoy their leisure. When the union man goes out at night he expects a good time and a half."

"The U.S. pays more money on symphony concerts than it does on watching baseball."

"In Texas you're nothing unless you have a dozen head of Cadillacs."

"We don't need to worry about the future. We make people want things before they need them."

When the meeting was over members of the Chamber of Commerce said it was the best luncheon meeting they had attended in years. The attendance of 156 was also a near-record.

GAS DECISION SOON

Officials of West Coast Transmission, the company planning to bring natural gas from the Peace River to the Pacific Northwest expect an answer from the U.S. power commission about the middle of April to their application to sell gas in the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Evidence is still being given at the long-drawn-out hearing in Washington, but is nearing an end.

Anticipating a verdict favorable to Westcoast speculators are renewing interest in the Pacific Pete group of stocks.

These in addition to Pacific Pete, include Canadian-Atlantic, Peace River Natural Gas, Calvan, Canadian Fina, Charter Oil, [illegible] British Dominion, Bailey Selburn, Yankee Princess and many others.

GM's BIG SALES

General Motors sold more than $10,000,000,000 worth of its products in 1953, a record for any private corporation. Its net profit of $598,119,178 was lower than in 1949 and 1950, but still higher than that of any other American corporation.

Units sold in 1953 were 3,760,000, a gain over 1952 sales of 2,629,000.

Cyril B Diplock has been elected to the board of B.C. Telephone Co. He takes the place of the late George H. Barnard of Victoria.

Mr. Diplock, who has been with the company since 1913, is one of the vice-presidents and a former general manager.

At a meeting of directors following the annual meeting on March 11, the following officers were elected: Frank S. [illegible], chairman; [illegible] president; James [illegible], vice-president; Cyril B. Diplock, vice-president; Harry M. Boxer, vice-president and treasurer; Gilbert A. Kennedy, vice-president and comptroller; Winfield S. Pipes, vice-president and general manager, and Ronald W. J. Angus, secretary.

When disaster strikes your Red Cross is there to provide emergency food, clothing, care and shelter. You are there when you support the Canadian Red Cross.

Rolland Paper Profit Doubled

MONTREAL (CP)—Net profit of Rolland Paper Company Limited increased sharply in 1953 to $519,586 from $259,216 the previous year.

Net profit was equal to $7.95 a share against $3.21 a share in 1952.

New Highs Reached

VANCOUVER—Strength was shown in all sections with activity nearing the 200,000 share mark.

Industrials all gained, with B.C. Telephone, B.C. Power and Powell River at new highs. Breweries and distillers were also higher.

Bralorne jumped 30 cents to 3.90 in a strong gold section, and Western Tungsten moved up to 73 cents.

Oils found leadership in the Peace River group. Calvan, Pacific Peace River N.G. and Charter all gained. Trans-Mountain Pipeline was bid up to $27. Home and Federated also advanced.

New York Eases Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks encountered profit-taking after the industrial average had risen into new high ground since October 23, 1929.

Rails, easier most of the day, dipped further late in the day when industrials turned down in their average. Utilities improved with their average in new high ground since September 2, 1931.

When the leading issues slipped off market operations turned their attention to special issues and selected stocks of various lesser groups. Some of these gained up to three points or better and a great many hit new tops.

Tobaccos softened again under the lead of American Tobacco. Lerner Stores fell two points on a dividend cut. Losses of a point or more appeared in Santa Fe, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Illinois Central, Delaware & Hudson, Goodrich, Continental Oil and Texas Land Trust.

HB Mining Earns $4.15

NEW YORK (CP)—Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. Limited today reported 1953 gross income at $45,229,102 compared with $51,867,013 in the preceding year.

The net profit was $11,456,023 or $4.15 a share against a net profit of $14,799,274, or $5.37 a share in 1952.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—The new New Brunswick issue was slightly better in quiet trading on Montreal bond markets. On the corporate side trading was slow and prices held firm.

Symbolic of the growth of our country is the record of expansion at General Motors' eight great plants in Canada. Every division has new buildings or large additions either recently completed or now under way—and soon the total of our plant area in Canada will exceed 190 acres under roof.

The More VALUE we Give You!

To a motorist, our name means motor cars, first and foremost. But to a businessman it may mean trucks; to a railwayman it may mean powerful diesel locomotives; to many a housewife it stands for gleaming electric appliances.

And none of these people is wrong — for General Motors makes, in its eight Canadian factories, all of these things and dozens more besides. They are as diverse as washing machines and jet fighter plane components, but all have the common bond of General Motors' better value.

In part this better value which characterizes GM products springs from our vast technical resources. These include laboratories, proving grounds and the highly skilled specialists who man them. These great resources can exist because our customers are so numerous. Their purchases keep 22,000 Canadians busy in our plants, earning more than $80,000,000 a year in wages. Those same purchases require that we spend more than a million dollars every working day for supplies and services. And, of course, people buy confidently from us because of the better value they find in General Motors products. And so the circle is complete.

Old Vic Director Drama Adjudicator

Hugh Hunt director of the Old Vic Theatre London England, has been chosen to adjudicate the finals of the Dominion Drama Festival at Hamilton, Ont. May 10 to 15.

Mr. Hunt is a younger brother to Col. John Hunt, leader and chronicler of the recent successful assault on Mount Everest.

Educated at Marlborough College, he later attended the Sorbonne in Paris and studied in Heidelburg, Germany.

He has been the director of the Old Vic for the past five years.

At the mountain location for RKO's Robert Mitchum-Jean Simmons co-starring film "She Couldn't Say No," a technician killed a rattlesnake and offered Jean the skin, saying, "It will make you a beautiful pair of shoes."

"If it's all the same to you," answered Jean, "I'll just wait till you kill a calf."

Fogg Admits Break-Ins In Oak Bay

In Oak Bay police court Raymond Stephen Fogg, 25, of the New England Hotel, pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking, entering and theft.

The "funeral hour" burglar who robbed homes while bereaved persons were attending funeral services, has now pleaded guilty to three charges in city police court, two in Saanich and two in Oak Bay.

He was remanded until next Friday for sentence when he appeared in Oak Bay yesterday.

He admitted robbing homes of G. Harris, 1216 St. Patrick, where $45 was missing, and Peter Langdon, 1059 Roslyn Road, where $35 was missing.

Thieves Take Second Best

SEATTLE (UP)—Leonard Wasserman of Seattle was a happy man yesterday even if a thief did break into his car while he was crossing Puget Sound on a ferry.

Wasserman explained he had his violin and a book of cartoons in the car. The thief took the cartoons but left the violin—a Stradivarius insured for $18,000.

Millionaire Catches Burglar

RENO, Nev. (UP)—A 42-year-old armed convict from Chicago who didn't know whose home he had broken into was captured by police yesterday after eccentric millionaire La Vere Redfield surprised him burglarizing his home.

Redfield was the victim of a bizarre burglary February 29, 1952, when a small safe containing [illegible] in currency, securities and jewelry was stolen from a bedroom closet.

The burglar identified himself as William S. Clark, from Chicago. He said he was paroled February 2 from the Texas State Prison after serving 14 months of a three-year sentence for burglary.

Clark had a sack when he was arrested which was about one fourth filled with old coins—pennies, nickels, quarters and half-dollars—plus 12 silver dollars he said he found atop one of the several safes in Redfield's basement.

Clark fled out the front door when he heard Redfield enter the back door.

Redfield heard the door slam and saw Clark leaving. He ran next door and asked a neighbor to telephone police, explaining he was going to follow the burglar.

Clark walked 3½ blocks to a bar with Redfield trailing him. The latter hailed a passing car which was occupied by an off duty police patrolman.

By the time Clark reached the bar and went inside, Police Chief L. R. Greeson and about 15 other officers had reached the scene.

Clark was arrested without resistance after Redfield pointed him out although he had a loaded .38-calibre pistol in a hip pocket.

Leaking Continues In Roof of Arena

Reports that the roof of Memorial Arena is leaking again and that the floor is once more a source of trouble did not cause undue worry yesterday for Arena Manager Joe Dukowski.

He confirmed that the roof is still leaking under the "barrel" section. Leakage, he said, is not alarming and appears to be confined to points next the semi-circular buttresses running over the circular roof. Recent extremes in the weather he explained, may have caused the leaks.

STILL GUARANTEED

Mr. Dukowski said he understands the roof is still guaranteed by the company which carried out repairs on it some time ago.

The arena manager said the floor has been "behaving very well."

Bennett Asked To Study Plight Of TB Victims

A plea for government investigation of the plight of local tuberculosis patients has been made by a TB sufferer in a letter to Premier W. A. C. Ben [illegible]

The patient, Joseph E. Thompson, who is in St. Joseph's Villa, said sufferers in sanitariums today "have no future to look forward to" when discharged.

He said the citizens of the province could not expect TB patients to go on working in their behalf in the fight to stop the dread disease if matters are not improved considerably.

"I would like to bring to your attention that the patients who have TB and those who are ex-patients have in some way given so much to help keep the rest of B.C. free from tuberculosis," wrote Mr. Thompson.

HAD TO WORK

He said patients did not re- [illegible] leased from hospital, and that they had to go out and work.

"Here in B.C. the patient is allowed up to $35 each month for rent (if he or she lives in a housekeeping room), $30 each month for food, and $5 each month for extras," he said. "Now I think you will realize this is not enough for a TB patient to get by on."

"As for clothing," Mr. Thompson said, "the patient has to accept that type . . . picked up in the Salvation Army clothing depots. Any money the patient works for over the amount of $5 is deductible under the present arrangement. A married man is allowed to earn up to $20 before having his allowance cut."

Mr. Thompson, who said he was writing on behalf of all patients in B.C., asked the premier to order an investigation.

"I assure you that you will be doing a good thing for the patients if you will help them fight tuberculosis here in B.C.," he concluded.

Job Picture Continues To Brighten

Victoria's employment picture has improved for the sixth consecutive week, the National Employment Service reports.

The picture is similar to that reported from Vancouver, where unemployment and social service workers believe the Lower [illegible] yearly unemployment.

Officials said employment has "definitely improved" during the past month.

In Victoria the number of men returning to work offset a slight increase in the number of women seeking employment.

The majority of industries continue to show steady improvement in the job situation.

The domestic field offers much employment for women, with a slight increase in the number of waitresses required.

In Ottawa the Bureau of Statistics reports that at January 31 there were 63,915 unemployment insurance claimants in B.C. compared with 51,403 at the same date a year earlier.

The School of Religion of Butler University, Indianapolis, is granting a year's leave with salary to Professor Ronald E. Osborn, head of its church history department, to serve on the staff of the Graduate School of Ecumenical Studies at Celigny, near Geneva, Switzerland.

Canadian Sailor Hurts Australian

SYDNEY, Australia (BUP)—Leon Tessier, 18-year-old rating aboard the Canadian cruiser Ontario, was convicted on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm at a special court convened Friday at the bedside of his victim in Sydney Hospital.

Tessier pleaded guilty to injuring Daniel Crom, 48, Tuesday night. Crom suffered seven broken ribs, a broken arm and black eyes in the assault, which Tessier's lawyer attributed to a mixture of beer and gin the sailor had drunk earlier.

The court ordered Tessier to post a £200 bond to guarantee good behavior for three years and to pay £110 compensation to Crom. The judge said Tessier could pay the bond money at the rate of $45 a month.

Rubirosa Keeps Silent On Split with Heiress

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Porfirio Rubirosa refused to talk Friday night about reports that his marriage to Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton is on the rocks.

Usually reliable society circles here reported that Barbara had left the honeymoon home she shared with the handsome Rubirosa for 10 weeks and moved in with her aunt.

The rift started a few days after the surprise wedding last December 30, the newspaper said, when Rubirosa, Dominican minister to France, escorted a succession of Palm Beach beauties to night spots.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—An Indianapolis thief may get a practical illustration that crime does not pay. Louis Berkoff, a chemical laboratory employee, reported some articles stolen from his car Thursday. Among them were several vials of methyl bromide, an odorless and colorless liquid. Inhaling its fumes could be fatal.

IWA Contract Demands To Be Set at Parley

The 1954 contract demands of the province's largest union will be set this week end.

A two-day wages and contract conference is being held in Vancouver by 90 delegates and staff members of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

The staff and policy committee met earlier this week to lay the groundwork for the conference, which will set demands to be sought for 32,000 members from 158 employers.

NO SPECULATION

Union leaders declined to speculate what demands might be made.

Agreement on a two-year contract, providing a 13-cent hourly increase, has been reached between Victoria Building Industries Exchange and 220 painters represented by the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, Local 1163.

Terms have been agreed upon by 30 independent contractors, according to Don Bushell, union business agent.

A five-cent an hour raise immediately will be followed by three cents an hour in October, and an additional five cents in April.

The agreement also will provide for 10 cents an hour additional pay for scaffold work over 40 feet in height, 45 cents for work over 100 feet, 10 cents for work over injurious chemicals, and a guaranteed room and board allowance of $80 a month.

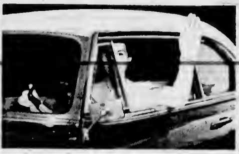
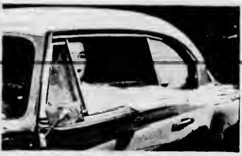
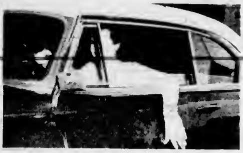
Police Plan Crackdown on Bad Traffic Habits



Police Chief John Blackstock has announced a crackdown on drivers who fail to make proper hand signals. Violators face a $5 fine and at least one traffic policeman will be detailed to check this offense. Here Mrs. Flora Lougheed of the police traffic office shows proper signal for a right turn.



This is the proper hand signal for a left turn. Police will be watching for bad traffic habits generally. Chief Blackstock points out in many accident cases recently collisions could be traced to failure of one or more of the drivers involved to make a clear hand signal.



When coming to a stop lower your hand like this. Blinking lights on both sides of car that have an indicator inside on the dash are allowable if they blink 32 times a minute. Certain mechanical hands on commercial vehicles are allowed, but the lighted trafficators on some British cars are against the law.

Liberal Leader Raps 'Death Bed' B.C. Financing

Liberal leader Arthur Laing railed the Bennett budget "deathbed financing" geared to the pace of the Social Credit administration of Alberta when he addressed party adherents at Colwood last night.

He foresaw heavy buying by British Columbians in the United States as a result of the increased sales tax and he belabored the government for its hospitalization scheme based on the two per cent sales tax increase.

The Liberal leader claimed he had been denied information about the PGE railway on the instructions of Premier Bennett and an inquiry to be set up to investigate the proposed North Vancouver-Squamish extension of the line.

He told the annual meeting of Esquimalt district Liberals that the government's attitude was leading to a civil war between labor and management, and dubbed Labor Minister Lyle Wicks "a singular failure."

Mr. Laing said the house sitting last Friday was delayed 22 minutes while the Social Credit members went into caucus to discuss the Alberta budget.

"Hasty measures were taken to bring the budget into line with that," claimed the speaker.

"In this year we will find the effect of raising sales tax from 3 per cent to 5 per cent. It will show us the law of diminishing return.

"How can we operate an economy in this province alongside the booming economy of Alberta which has no sales tax at all?" questioned Mr. Laing.

He quoted cabinet ministers as saying that if people did not buy they would not be hit by the tax increase.

"If they are going to collect $23,500,000 who is going to pay?" he asked.

"I am afraid that most of our people will go to the U.S. every quarter to get the $100 worth of goods they can bring in.

"Young couples getting married are going to be hit hardest. They are the people we should be extending every help to instead of putting an extra burden on them. Being young they are the people who are going to remain in this province the longest and are the most important people," he added.

He hinted at breakdowns within the government. "They are not sitting solid with the idea they are coming back. If they break they will not be in power six weeks from now," he added.

Since May 1953 the party had lost 13,600 members, claimed the speaker. He said many people who had turned to Social Credit were now disillusioned. "They cannot maintain a party without a philosophy," he stated.

He urged that prospective Liberal candidates be nominated, so they could appear before the people between now and the next election.

George Gregory, Victoria MLA, said what had offended him most in his three-and-a-half weeks in the legislature was the "complete and utter arrogance" of government members.

Since the legislature opened, he said not one suggestion put forward by the Opposition had been adopted.

BCHIS Costs Since Start $108,439,955

Total cost of hospital insurance since its inception in 1948 was $108,439,955 of which $35,612,319 was provided by the government.

The figures were given yesterday in the legislature by Health Minister Eric Martin during his two hour and 15 minute budget debate speech.

The other $72,827,635 the minister said came from "non-government sources," that is, premium revenue and municipal per diem grants.

Payments to the hospitals from 1948 until December last year amounted to $89,717,438, administration costs were $8,846,467, advance balance to hospitals outstanding, $2,788,861, leaving a cash balance of $7,087,183.

Of the total revenue not provided by the government, during the life of the service $68,791,449 came from premiums and $4,036,185 from the municipal per diem grants. Of the total of $35,612,319 contributed by the government, $3,339,812 was for social assistance premiums, $5,199,934 for social assistance hospital costs, $6,986,169 from provincial per diem grants, $2,000,000 for the stabilization fund and $17,766,111 straight subsidy votes.

Works Budget Sliced $108,395

The civic public works committee sliced $108,395 from the 1954 budget of the public works department yesterday during an all-day session on estimates.

The committee was faced with a budget totaling $275,100 when it began.

The big slice brings the budget down to some $160,000, the amount requested by the works department last year. Actual spending by the department in 1953 amounted to some $129,000.

The new budget called for expenditure of $189,179 on normal operating costs and $85,621 on "extraordinary" items.

Normal operating costs were reduced sharply when the committee eliminated $10,000 for new equipment, $8,000 from street maintenance and $1,000 for new traffic lights.

Biggest single extraordinary cost eliminated would have provided for construction of a $50,000 grid deck on Johnson Street bridge.

An item calling for an expenditure of $3,390 to build Finlayson Street 600 feet east from Douglas Street was crossed off the budget.

The Finlayson Street spur was intended to serve the proposed garbage dump on property owned by Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros.

The garbage disposal proposal was tabled by council last week when faced with the "100 per cent" opposition of residents of the Topaz Heights residential subdivision immediately east of the proposed garbage dump.

City Engineer Cyril Jones told the committee that it is important to put Finlayson Street through to Quadra Street regardless of the future of the garbage disposal plan. The committee agreed that efforts should be made to secure right of way across the brick yard for the street.

Mr. Jones said money for the spur should be left in the estimates so that work could go ahead this year if residents of the district can be persuaded that the garbage dump isn't going to do them any harm.

Cabman Convicted On Liquor Charge

DUNCAN—A city taxi driver-owner who beat a charge of illegal sale of liquor here on February 19 when his brother impersonated him in police court and was wrongly identified by two police officers, faced Magistrate Col. A. C. Sutton Friday on a similar charge arising out of the same visit here of plain clothes officers. He was fined $300 and costs of $5.50 or 30 days. The fine was paid.

Douglas John Nelson was arrested on the second charge 10 days ago and was remanded from last Friday until yesterday. He asked Magistrate Sutton for a further remand when the case was called because his counsel, R. M. Howard, prosecutor for the city of North Vancouver, had been unable to get here.

The magistrate refused his request. The charge concerned a case of beer that had been purchased on Sunday, February 7, and the two police officers, Joseph Lusier and Eric Axel Hall, told of extensive driving through city streets and up lanes before the case of beer was passed over in exchange for a $5 bill.

The previous charge concerned a bottle of whisky that was bought by Constable Hall on February 7.

Weather Uncertain Today

The sky will be a little undecided about its color scheme today.

A few rain drops are expected to give showers during the day on most parts of the Island with clearing in the evening.

On Sunday the picture of good weather is forecast only for the southern areas, were the outlook is for sun. Nanaimo can expect a few clouds, while the west coast can expect cloudy conditions Sunday.

High temperatures forecast on the Island vary from 45 on the west coast to 48 in Victoria today.

Gibson Renews War on PGE

Thirty million dollars is too much money to gamble on the advice of "a man who is generally wrong," Gordon Gibson (Lib., Lillooet) said Friday in the legislature.

He was referring to Premier Bennett's proposal to borrow $30,000,000 to begin the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Vancouver and to the Peace River.

Mr. Gibson continued his fight for a committee investigation of the economic soundness of the plan. "With or without the premier's permission," he said, he was calling a meeting of the legislature's railway committee for 9.30 a.m. Monday in the Liberal members' room, and any member who failed to show up was "not much interested in $30,000,000."

(House committees generally meet only at the call of the chairman. Mr. Gibson is a member of the railway committee, but not chairman.)

He said the whole matter of PGE extension should be thoroughly threshed out before any money is spent. Government members were preparing to "start throwing away $30,000,000 of the public's money without knowing what they're doing."

"We can't gamble with $30,000,000," he said. "That's just too much money to be gambled by a man whose luck has turned."

He quoted from Premier Bennett's brief presented to the federal government in December, which said B.C. could not afford to build the extensions without federal aid. Then he quoted Premier Bennett's latest speech, in which he said "costly as our share (of the costs) may turn out to be . . . we dare not delay and must proceed with the task involved."

"The premier sounds to me like Churchill at Dunkirk," Mr. Gibson said.

"Why, that premier will have us broke in no time if he goes rushing into things like this."

Mr. Gibson said present cost of barging freight from Squamish to Vancouver is $19.77 per car. If the southern extension is built, he said, the cost of hauling cars from Squamish to Vancouver will be $78.97, almost four times as much.

Your Income Tax

Three Groups of Persons Must File Tax Returns

BY GORDON HOLMS
Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants

The income tax department lists three classifications of persons who must file returns:

Those whose earned income (after deduction of union dues and pension plan contributions), plus their investment income, is greater than the total of their personal exemptions and deductions.

Those who had tax deducted at the source by their employers during 1953, which was in excess of the total tax they are required to pay and who, therefore, want to obtain a refund of the overpayment;

Those who have been requested by the head of the local income tax branch to file an income tax return.

Remember, if you are entitled to an income tax refund, there is only one way that you can obtain it. That is by filing your income tax return. Neither your employer nor the income tax department has any responsibility to hunt up and mail unclaimed refunds.

Some Indians are required to pay income tax, and the rule is simple.

If an income is derived off the reserve, that income is taxable on the same basis as anyone else.

But any income derived on the reserve is not taxable. Thus, a successful Indian farmer on the reserve is not required to account for income from this source. But an Indian fishing off the reservation must pay income tax.

Year Residence Hospital Plan Requirement

A one-year residence requirement for benefits under the new sales tax-financed hospital scheme was announced yesterday by Health Minister Eric Martin.

This was the only new announcement contained in the minister's lengthy address.

He said persons must have lived within the borders of B.C. continuously for one year, before application for hospital benefits, in order to be eligible.

All persons, however, who have paid their premiums as at April 1 automatically will be transferred under the new plan and will not need to worry about residence qualifications, the minister said.

Mr. Martin also said the $1-a-day hospital charge would continue, and that the government would carry on paying it on behalf of welfare cases.

He said refund of pre-paid premiums will be made immediately after the sales tax boost goes into effect April 1 and that it would be automatic.

COMPULSION HIT

The remainder of Mr. Martin's comments on the controversial hospital plan included a history of hospital insurance since its inception, an indictment of the compulsory aspects of the Hospital Insurance Inquiry Board recommendations and of the plan as it was originally set up by the previous government.

"When we assumed office we found we had fallen heir to a social measure which was certainly something wanted by the majority of people in this province," he said. "However, the vehicle which had been constructed to provide these services was lopsided, ill-conceived and rife with contradictory policy." He said even after the Social Credit government had brought the service to a point where it was giving efficient administration, "we could not satisfy ourselves that it was providing the complete basic services demanded."

He said collection had always been a source of worry and the "compulsory aspects were found to be very obnoxious to a great many people, and as we all know, contributed in a large measure to the overthrow of the previous administration."

"WIPES OUT HARDSHIPS"

He said the old plan created injustices and "hardships right in that sector of the population who need its protection the most" and the new plan would wipe out these hardships.

The minister attacked the opposition for voting last fall against suspension of arrears. He said they upheld "an evil which amounted to a great injustice." He said if they had had their way it would have meant that "a large section of the population, in ever-increasing numbers, would continue to be without benefits."

He said under the old system "the accumulated arrears were so great that almost the total of the first two pay cheques disappeared to satisfy the cruel and unrelenting policy of the previous government to garnishee the wages of these (previously unemployed) persons."

He said the reason the government did not implement either of two plans recommended by the inquiry board was because it "does not agree with this principle of compulsion." He said the system of requiring everyone to have a paid-up certificate would mean, among other things, that "no person could get a job without having such a receipt."

GIVEN DIRECTION

The minister said that "blessed with a very capable staff" the Social Credit government was able to give them the policy direction they lacked since the service's inception with a resultant drop in administration costs.

Statements that the new system was the beginning of socialized medicine and would encroach on the autonomy of local hospital boards, the minister termed "rubbish."

He said the government had no intention of moving in on hospital boards, as to do so "would be a direct violation of the principles and policies of a democratic Social Credit government."

He called the CCF program to roll back premiums to $21 and $33, abolish co-insurance and pay the rest of cost out of revenue "a ruthless program of compulsion whereby wholesale prosecutions would be launched upon the backs of the public, regardless of circumstances." He said a means test would be "unworkable."

Mr. Martin also replied to criticism by former premier Byron Johnson that the new system marked the beginning of the end of hospital insurance.

"The manner in which he allowed it to be administered was the major reason for his government's defeat at the polls," the minister said. "The chaotic condition in which we found it . . . leads me to believe that he is the last man who should be making such statements."

Television is in the news these days. In a Seattle jail, TV has been accused of making crooks out of the criminals.

Coin-in-the-slot television sets were installed in the jail some time ago in an effort to make crime pay.

The old adage that it doesn't pay has been upheld. The inmates have been getting their television shows free.

The prisoners soon figured out a way to operate the sets by feeding them slugs, then fishing the slugs out with a piece of wire.

In England the heavy breathing of TV actresses, in low-cut gowns, has caused more than the normal ripple of comment.

It seems that the actresses breath lightly while being checked for "telexposure," but make up for lost time while on the air.

Here we are more conservative. One Canadian company which advertises alarm clock radios on TV, illustrates the point by showing a young lady, in bed, being aroused by the gadget.

The model has on more clothes than old Mother Hubbard.

And this from a company which advertises that "progress is our most important product."

The air survey of land heights between KTNT-TV's new transmitter site at View Park and the city, will start today if the weather permits.

Other land features which affect television reception here will be surveyed from the air by a party sponsored by the Colonist and by Butler Brothers, Saanich TV firm.

Results of the survey will be available next week.

CJVI announcer Tippy O'Neill turned down our invitation to make the trip.

Now I'll have to take back the credit I gave him for having one fan.

I wouldn't be surprised if it was Mrs. O'Neill who phoned in his defense last week.

Thank heaven it is CKDA that applied for permission to boost its power.

Imagine Tippy's voice with a power of 5,000 watts behind it!

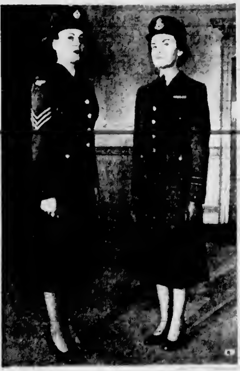
New Uniforms



New uniforms for the Women's Royal Air Force, described as more "feminine," are shown at the Air Ministry in London. Designed by Victor Steibel, one of London's leading fashion designers, the jackets are slightly shorter with more emphasis on the waist. The skirt is fuller, with six panels. Sgt Audrey Jackson (left) wears the new uniform for other ranks while Squadron Officer Mary Laslett models the new dress uniform for officers. (CP photo.)

Fig-Leaf Tie Emblem of Oxford Club

OXFORD (Reuters) — A group of Oxford students is looking for a girl with a quick blush to serve as honorary [illegible] in a lighthearted organization set up to commemorate the man who put the asterisk into English literature, Dr Thomas Bowdler.

The group plans to line up coed contestants and tell them carefully selected stories. The first girl to raise a blush wins the title "the cheek of modest innocence."

She will also become the only woman member of the Dr Bowdler Dining Club.

[illegible] -minded professor who "cleaned up" Shakespeare in 1818 by replacing naughty words with asterisks. His expurgations are still in wide use.

Brian Brindley, leader of the works Bowdler group, plans to honor the good doctor in the titles of the group's officers, which they have "purged" of names like president, secretary and treasurer. Officers are to be known as the three asterisks, the dash and the three dots.

Like Oxford's other exclusive dining clubs, this group has its own special tie: fig leaves on a scarlet background.

"I suddenly realized Dr Bowdler was born just 200 years ago this year and has never been commemorated," Brindley [illegible] form a club in his honor."

A preface to the doctor's expurgated version of Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" declares that Gibbon's [illegible] blush [illegible] innocence [illegible] where the [illegible] comes in," Brindley explained.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

Good fit and fashion make a good figure more attractive and they do as much for the figure not so perfect. Today sizing makes it possible for you to choose ready-to-wear clothes that will fit with fewer alterations.

Let good fit begin with your foundation garments and lingerie. Never settle for the girdle that bulges the flesh over its top or at the thighs below. Clothes that settle comfortably to your figure mean your dress will not be marred by outline of a slip underneath because it is too wide for a slim silhouette dress. A bra should not show its outline in a sweater or blouse top.

Your figure changes with the years so you should change or check your size to be sure you are wearing what is right for you. Clothes that hang from a figure because they are too large give a droopy look to the figure at once depressing to you and those who see you. Such bad fit will add years to your appearance.

Try different departments when you buy new clothes — those catering to the petite, half size or junior. Designers strive to make clothes wearable for all so your years have little to do with your needs. Take advantage of proportioned sizes in lingerie and hosiery which are planned for the very short as well as the very tall.

When you find a size that really does things for you make it a practice to try it again. I've known girls who lost weight and found when they switched from regular misses sizes to junior they were better fitted and actually looked prettier because their figures appeared slim but not scrawny as it would have to a size too large. Remember when shopping for a coat that your dress size is not the one to request. Generally you'll find the coat a size smaller more becoming. Again the [illegible] can often wear the junior coat. Shop around for what really fits your beauty.

Commissioner Gives Address

Saanich Division of Girl Guides held their annual meeting recently when special guests included area commissioner Mrs F [illegible] and Mrs A Morkill, division commissioner. Mrs King announced there are now 366 guides and brownies in 12 packs and companies in Saanich. During the year Gold Cords were presented to Frances [illegible] of Elk Lake Guides and Janice Hepburn of Salt Spring Guides. Last year the members of Saanich Division sold 160 cartons of cookies during Cookie Week.

Guest speaker was Mrs A Morkill, who spoke on international guiding. Mrs Morkill is a former member of a committee of the World Association. The World Bureau is responsible for the sending of trainers all over the world including refugee camps where guiding is very welcome. Pennies donated during Thinking Week to the world friendship fund are used to finance the work of the trainers of the world bureau. In many countries there are companies which include 10 to 15 different nationalities. These are really guides in exile. There are now more than 3,000,000 members of the World Association of Guides.

District commissioner Mrs B Mills presented two films, one on the life of Baden Powell and the other of Queen Elizabeth as a guide and ranger.

TIGHT SHOES

If new shoes hurt at the heel, rub the inside of the heel with hard soap before putting them on. A few cross strips of adhesive tape fastened to the heel will also take the rub.

TULIP DECORATION

When tulips are used as a decoration for the table, drop a tiny bit of wax in the calyx of each flower. They will live longer than if this is not done.

STOVE PIPES

All the stove pipes should be rubbed with kerosene before they are stored away in the spring. If this is done it will prevent rust.

PECAN PIE

This Southern favorite is delicious and easy. Have ready an unbaked 8-inch pie shell. Cream together ¼ cup of butter and ½ cup of brown sugar. Beat 3 eggs well and stir into mixture. Add ¾ cup of corn syrup, 2 teaspoons of vanilla, a pinch of salt and a cup of pecan halves. Stir and pour into shell. Bake in a 375 oven for ½ hour.

GINGER BEETS

Tired of plain buttered beets? Give them some snap with a little ginger! Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan and add a tablespoon of cornstarch. Stir smooth, add ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon of powdered ginger plus a little salt and pepper. Cook, stirring all the while, for a few minutes, then add a cup of cooked, diced beets. Simmer till beets are heated through, and serve.

Rosemary Illot Bride Of Mr. Murray D. Jones

Gowns in spring pastels were chosen by the six attendants who came down the aisle with Rosemary Ilott Friday evening at her wedding to Murray Douglas Jones. Masses of daffodils, iris, and hyacinths formed a lovely setting in Emmanuel Baptist Church for the double ring ceremony conducted by Rev. James E. Smith.

The bride is the daughter of [illegible] Ilott, 2134 Ridge Road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Jones, Braefoot Road.

Organ music was played by Mr. D. W. Phillips and Mrs. Bernard Gillie sang "My Prayer" during the signing of the register.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was charming in her gleaming white satin gown. Lace was appliqued on the bodice, leaving a round satin yoke with small rolled collar, and fell in points over the skirt which swept into a cathedral train. A small satin cap covered with lace and outlined with seed pearls held her chapel veil of illusion net and her jewelry was the groom's gift of pearl necklace and earrings. She carried a colonial bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and freesia, the streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Miss Patricia Ahern as maid of honor chose a gown of mauve net over brocaded taffeta with mandarin-collared bolero and net cap. Her crescent bouquet was of yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lorraine McIntosh and Miss Carol Smith, both in turquoise, and Miss Ruth Jones in rose. Their strapless gowns were of taffeta with net overskirts and stoles and they wore matching net headdresses with carnations. Their crescent bouquets were of carnations, pink for the former two and blue for the latter.

Junior bridesmaid Miss S[illegible] [illegible] boat neckline and carried a colonial bouquet of mauve carnations. Miss Glenna Ilott, flowergirl, was in mauve taffeta and carried a basket of pink and blue marguerites. Their headdresses were of carnations.

Best man was Mr. Raymond Jones, brother of the groom, and the bride's brothers, Mr. Kenneth Ilott and Mr. Edward Ilott, ushered with Mr. Leon Applebe and Mr. Raymond Kel[illegible].

Mr. Reginald Croft proposed the toast to the bride at the reception at Laugheed's Banquet Club. A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, which was decorated with white candles and pink and white flowers. [illegible] Mrs. Jones donned an aqua green wool suit, yellow full-length coat, brown and white flecked straw hat and brown accessories. She had a corsage of talisman roses.

The couple will live at 544 Hilda Street.

On the Fashion Front

Warm Browns, Patent Leather To Be Spring Shoe Features

Hemlines on the new spring clothes in Victoria stores have definitely gone up an inch so sheer stockings and dress shoes are bound to get lots of attention this season.

The experts are saying that it's bound to be a big year for shiny patent leather and we agree that patent pumps look just right with pastel coats and suits and a bit later on, with print dresses.

Sharing the limelight with patent leather are shoes in various light warm shades of brown ranging from reddish ginger to the golden and honey blond tones.

These have become so popular that you're likely to find it next to impossible to buy pumps in ordinary dark brown.

Pumps with more trimming are predicted and many more shoes than last year will feature tiny bows, calf effects. Contrasting stitching (white on navy or red) is important and open toes.

BARE SANDALS

Sandals are slated for extra emphasis with those with the very bare look getting top billing.

The sophisticated strapping sandals made up of narrow straps and a sole will appear in many colors and materials for parties.

For those of you who like the look of high heels and the comfort of lower ones, there are shoes with all the style of high heeled pumps with illusion heels—medium height but slender and well shaped.

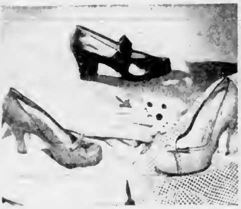
In stockings you'll be noticing more and more designed to match a costume color. Shades of navy, beige and black are meant to carry the color of your outfit from hemline to shoe.

PASTELS

Later in the year, there'll be pastel pinks, blues and yellows for wear with summer dresses.

This spring's hosiery look is as sheer as can be.

Stockings are meant to look almost like bare legs with light seams or no seams at all, elimination of fashion marks at the calf and concealed reinforcements.



Here is a trio of beautiful Canadian-made shoes to complement many of the new spring suits and tailored dresses. At left, a pump in aniline treated calf in a benedictine shade. The vamp is low cut and has a simple tailored bow as its trimming. Centre, aniline treated calf has again been used in this sabot strap shoe. On the new medium high ridged heel, it is an ideal suit shoe. At right, low cut pump in the very new shade known as sand. The black suede accents make a pleasing contrast to the light toned calf leather of the shoe. The toe has a suspicion of squareness which adds a tailored note.

Policeman Killed, Others Wounded By Seattle Bandits

SEATTLE (AP) — Three gunmen killed one policeman and wounded two others Friday in a bank robbery in which they dropped $90,000 on the bank floor in their getaway.

Officials of the Greenwood [illegible] Seattle First National Bank said a quick audit after the wild burst of gunfire showed $6,900 missing.

The slain officer was patrolman Frank W. Hardy, 30. The wounded were Sgt. Howard Slessman, 46, and patrolman Vernon Chase, 21.

Hardy was wounded fatally and Chase hit by two of the robbers after they fled through [illegible]ing lot. Both were hit in an exchange of shots.

[illegible] answer the alarm, was felled by a pistol shot fired through the front door glass.

Another of the trio, who wore plastic noses during the holdup, dived through a plate-glass window to escape.

Cold War May End, Declares Malenkov

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Georgi Malenkov said Friday an end of the East-West cold war is possible and called for revived economic relations with the West.

"It is not true that mankind is faced with only two possibilities, that of a new world slaughter or the continuation of the so-called cold war," Malenkov said at a rally winding up a campaign for Supreme Soviet elections Sunday.

As an alternative, he called for "peaceful economic competition between the Soviet Union and the capitalist countries, including the United States."

At the same time Malenkov stressed the importance of international negotiations as an instrument toward peace and promised a "benevolent attitude" toward the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern problems next month.

He laid the blame for world tension on the Western powers' plan to rearm Germany with a six-nation European army proposed by the European Defense Community Treaty.

Instead Malenkov again proposed the Russian plan first presented at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin for an all-European non-aggression pact to take the place of the European army.

Life Sentence Mars Wedding

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Leroy Goss was sentenced on his wedding night to 99 years in prison. Goss, an ex-convict, was on trial charged with armed robbery. As a jury filed out Thursday he and Miss Frances Parga, 23, sent for a minister and were married in a witness room. Thursday night, six hours and 15 minutes after the marriage, the jury returned and convicted Goss. He buried his face in his hands and wept.

Power Station Ready

Langford's new $250,000 substation, which can be operated by radio impulse waves from Bay Street in Victoria, will go into full service next week.

High voltage work by B.C. Electric engineers Sunday morning is all that remains to be done before the transformer station is put into full capacity.

CUT VOLTAGE

Purpose of the station is to reduce 60,000 voltage from the Jordan River hydro plant to 12,000 volts. The electricity will then be transmitted to Langford, Albert Head, Metchosin and Happy Valley areas as well as the Rocky Point arsenal.

Previously the area had been served by Jordan River power which was first reduced at the Bay Street substation. Langford substation in a short time will be the only radio-controlled substation on Vancouver Island.

EARLY RAILWAYS

Public railway traffic was inaugurated in England in 1825 and in France in 1828.

Victoria, Oak Bay Staffs Ask Conciliation Officers

Services of conciliation officers are sought by certain employees of Victoria city and Oak Bay municipality in new contract disputes.

The inside and outside staffs of the city have requested the government to appoint a conciliation officer in their disputes.

City manager [illegible] Wyatt has turned down the wanted [illegible] groups agreeing to recommend some of the other requests, including an MSA scheme shared in cost by the city.

The outside workers requested wage parity with Vancouver city workers in similar jobs, equivalent to roughly 18 cents an hour across the board. Mr. Wyatt estimated the cost of this demand at $80,000 or 1[illegible] mills.

Inside workers' demands were estimated to cost $38,000 or 7.10 of a mill. They asked 7.8 per cent wage increase and other demands.

In Oak Bay outside workers and policemen have requested conciliation officers, each disputing with council on wages only. Inside staff members are still in negotiations with the municipality.

Esquimalt and 45 municipal workers there have reached agreement for a 2½ per cent wage hike across the board. Other new provisions include those for casual employees to be classified as permanent after one year's service, the Rand formula and additional prov[illegible]

DECKERVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A 76-year-old farm bride of six months was found slain in her kitchen Thursday and police quoted her husband, John Brabant, 77, as saying "I must have done it." Mrs. Flora Brabant died of a severe head wound possibly inflicted by a small axe. She was the third wife of Brabant and the second to die a violent death.

New Housing Plan Interest Established at 5½ Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — The interest rate under the government's new housing legislation will be fixed initially at 5½ per cent, it was learned Friday.

The new rate will be incorporated in regulations to be issued by the government when the legislation, now before the Senate, gets final approval, possibly within the next two weeks.

The government also plans to boost the ceiling on National Housing Act mortgage loans to $12,800 from the current $10,000.

Meanwhile Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has set up an expanded organization ready to put the new legislation into operation the moment it gets Royal assent. CMHC officials said they have expanded loan offices across the country to 81 from 30.

McCarthy, Army Foes Charge Blackmail, Lies

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Joseph McCarthy and Army Secretary Robert Stevens clashed again Friday as charges and counter-charges of pressure, blackmail and lying exploded around the case of a drafted member of McCarthy's sub-committee staff.

From a bipartisan majority of McCarthy's sub-committee—three Democrats and one Republican—came calls for an immediate investigation.

The latest flare-up was started by an army report accusing the Wisconsin senator and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn of using pressure and threats against the army in demanding favored treatment for Pte. David G. Schine.

COUNSEL'S FRIEND

Schine is Cohn's friend and was a consultant to the McCarthy committee until he was drafted last November.

McCarthy protested that the report was an attempt at "blackmail." Stevens criticized McCarthy's release of an unsigned memorandum that the senator said was from committee files—a memo that said Stevens had asked that the sub-committee shift its hunt for Reds from the army to the airforce, navy and defense department.

"Utterly untrue," the army secretary said.

He and McCarthy have warred before, over McCarthy's treatment of army officers called as witnesses before the Senate investigations sub-committee.

The new row brought hot dissension within the McCarthy sub-committee. Sen. Everett Dirksen (R. Ill.) accused McCarthy of breaking an agreement in releasing material from the sub-committee files. He told reporters this was "a departure from the agreement we had yesterday" at a secret meeting dealing with the army report and Cohn.

A few minutes later McCarthy told reporters at a conference—the second of the day—he had released information from the files "very reluctantly" and only because of the release of the army report.

He said he had no objection to putting Cohn and others under oath for questioning.

The army report at the heart of the newest clash said Cohn told Stevens he would be "through" and the army "wrecked" if Schine was sent [illegible] and McCarthy repeatedly advised the army to treat Schine like any other soldier but also repeatedly asked that he be assigned to the New York area.

Senate sources released the report Thursday night.

Sen. Charles Potter (R. Mich.) a member of the seven-man McCarthy sub-committee, said Friday the report contained "most shocking charges" and Cohn should be fired if they were true. He said he had written McCarthy, asking for a sub-committee session to look into the charges.

Routine X rays of Biggs' wife and three children disclosed Chuck had the disease too Doctors say Chuckie may have had it before his father

Where on Earth

Do Cows Swim Under Water?

by TED ATWOOD

"Swim along, little dogies" might well be the refrain of a Florida cowboy if he tried a roundup of the wierd herd which grazes in the rivers of that state. Chances are Old Paint would rear up and gallop away on sighting one of these aquatic heifers. For Florida's swiming cow, the manatee, is as ugly as he is harmless.

Surfacing for air, as he must do every four to 12 minutes—the huge mammal displays a wide hairless face, heavy lidded eyes, gaping cow-like nostrils and clumsy bovine lips. No horns or ears mar his beauty. Instead his thick neckless head melts into a crusty, wrinkled, tough old grey body. He has no feet, only a strong pair of flippers to speed him through the water. To keep his 500 to 1,300-pound figure in trim, the manatee nibbles daintily at marine grasses and plants. A real delicacy is the purple water hyacinth. A snack for one of these water cattle might be 25 pounds of river grasses and plants. His daily intake averages around 70 pounds of underwater flora.

Florida law prohibits killing the manatee. Although his flesh is tasty, the sea cow is an excellent worker, gobbling up the thick beds of water hyacinth which choke up Florida's rivers. If a fisherman kills a manatee, he is fined $500.

Tough looking as he is, the clumsy manatee is as terrified of human beings as an elephant is of a flea. When his simple mind's at ease, however, he floats blissfully, his back humped, head dangling and tail in contact with the river bottom. His eight to 15-foot bulk prefers warm water. Exposed too long to the cold, he will stop eating and die.

An ungainly mermaid, this ugly swimer is luckier than his clover-munching cousin on the range. No one will ever carve a steak from his hide.

Ex-Victorian, Mrs. Jackson Dies at Nelson

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson 86, a longtime resident of Victoria died at Nelson Tuesday.

Mrs. Jackson moved to Nelson three years ago to live with her son-in-law and daughter Judge and Mrs. E. P. Dawson.

[illegible] was born in Campbellton, N.B., and moved to Victoria in 1906. Her husband, John James Jackson, died in 1917.

Mexico, Argentina Attack U.S. Move To Restrict Reds

CARACAS, Venezuela (CP) — Mexico and Argentina attacked the United States anti-Communist resolution Friday at the 10th Inter American Conference as a possible weapon of collective intervention in the internal affairs of American nations.

Mexican delegate Roberto Cor[illegible]

Red resolution proposed by United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Argentine delegate Rodolfo Muñoz backed the Mexican.

Their attacks made in support of amendments to the Dulles' resolution indicated they may vote against the resolution or abstain in a showdown planned for today.

DRAWS SUPPORT

However Dulles drew support from Brazil, El Salvador, Peru, Cuba and Bolivia during the final debate on the resolution which condemns Red intervention in the Western Hemisphere and calls for emergency meetings if necessary to check the spread of Communism.

Conference sources said minor amendments to the American resolution might be adopted but indications were that the measure would go through basically unchanged with majority support from the 20 nations at the conference.

ARGENTINA BLUNT

Argentina delivered the most outright and blunt expression of opposition to the measure.

Munoz said that changes proposed by Dulles were not adequate on the non-intervention issue.

"For us interventionism is synonymous with Bradenism," he said referring to Argentina's complaints against former U.S. Ambassador Spruille Braden. "We reject it for ourselves and our sister republics of America. There is to be found the basis for our comments on the United States resolution."

B.C. Pole London's Third

LONDON (CP) — Another British Columbia flagpole, the fourth, was added officially Friday to the London skyline when an 80-foot Douglas fir presented by the British Columbia Manufacturers Association went into use on historic Hampstead Heath.

At a ceremony attended by Canadian, London county and Hampstead borough officials, Agent-General [illegible] of B.C. ran up the Union Jack. He said in a brief address that the flagpole presented to replace one blown down in 1942, gave him the opportunity of expressing the province's gratitude to the County of London.

INDUSTRY AIDED

It was the county which had given the B.C. lumber industry its first opportunity in the United Kingdom market 30 years ago by including Douglas fir and cedar in its building specifications.

Two of the other three B.C. flagpoles in London were presented by the province. One is at Kew Gardens, a 215-footer. The other is the 90-foot pole outside the festival gardens on the south bank of the Thames. The third, presented by lumberman Prentice Bloedel is 82 feet tall and tops the 1,000-year-old Tower of London.

Reds' Secret Master File Lists Canadian Contacts

MONTREAL (CP) — Jojo Hladun, described as a Moscow-trained saboteur who now has become lecturer and author, said Thursday night his great-est ambition is to "find the secret master list of names on a card index hidden somewhere in Toronto and containing all known Canadian contacts of the Communist party."

Addressing an RCAF intelligence unit he told how he underwent an eight-month course in sabotage in Moscow and added

Among the tactics taught us was the importance of compiling a thorough index listing all party members, sympathizers, people we could count on from time to time, persons who could be blackmailed into helping us and our chief opponents."

He said he believes this master index now is kept by the party at the Toronto headquarters.

Sixteen prearranged "par" deals recently played in more than 150 colleges to decide the 1954 Intercollegiate Bridge Championships are being presented here. To play these for fun in your own game instead of reading the par results now save the series until completed. Then have the deals stacked in duplicate boards. (Or for each deal you may use four envelopes, each marked to identify the player whose hand it contains, and to indicate dealer and vulnerability.) Arrange for one or more tables to play the hands, then compare results with the pars stated here each day.

The bidding

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠
Pass	[illegible] ♠	Pass	[illegible] N T
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦
Pass	4 ♠	All pass

The deal turns out to be primarily a bidding par for North-South. When North bids three no-trump, South is reasonably sure that his partner holds only four spades. But it is also very likely that he has only a single stopper in hearts so that the no-trump contract is dangerous. (In fact, it can't be made, East-West are certain to win four hearts and the ace of diamonds.) So South must insist on a suit. Whether he bids four clubs or goes immediately to four spades he should steer for the shorter road to game because five diamonds looks like too much of a stretch with South holding only one ace. As the cards lie, if South plays at diamonds he can't avoid losing two clubs in addition to a trump trick.

It is too bad that the neat play the par-makers probably had in mind when they selected this hand, is actually unnecessary to the success of the four spade contract. Unless he trips himself up in some way, North is almost sure to come home with 10 tricks. For the sake of artistry, however, he should make a safety play permitting the defenders to win the first heart trick. Then if they continue hearts he ruffs in dummy, cashes the king-queen of spades and leads a diamond. With the ace of hearts to guard the heart suit, North is sure to be able to draw the trumps and also knock out the ace of diamonds before the opponents can do any damage even if four trumps be in one hand against him.

North-South par: Make game.

Montreal Buildings Damaged by Blaze

MONTREAL (CP) — Fire early yesterday gutted an east-end pharmaceutical warehouse and badly damaged adjoining transport offices, causing more than $500,000 damage.

The three-hour blaze ripped through the one-storey cinder block premises of Les Pharmacies Universelles, co-operative drugstore chain on Pie IX Boulevard, and swept into the offices and storerooms of the Oak Leaf Transport Building. No one was injured.

Plastic Sign Ban Provided in By-Law

Owners of plastic overhang street signs in the downtown area have been advised by the city that such signs are contrary to fire regulations.

Officials of the building inspector's office stated that a 1939 by-law rules against erection of signs made of a combustible material. They said owners of plastic signs, considered inflammable, had been advised of the by-law provision.

DECISION AWAITED

No further action is planned until a decision on the entire issue is reached by City Manager Cecil Wyatt.

Mr. Wyatt is understood to be studying reports from other cities, some of which permit plastic signs.

GEORGE ZAPOTICHNY
... "Take it off"

Drys Rapped For Trickery

New weight was given [illegible] yesterday to city council's [illegible] for a provincial government investigation into the liquor petition canvass by members of the Greater Victoria Citizens' Association when George Zapotichny, 815 Fenwell Street, said his name was put on the petition without his knowledge or consent.

Other Victorians joined in later in the day.

Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow called for the investigation in city council Thursday, stating that people had complained to him that canvassers had misrepresented facts to get petition signatures.

He said Mr. Zapotichny's complaint was an example of the sort of thing that had caused him to call for the investigation.

The complaint, he said, should give cause for further concern.

Legality of the council motion isn't yet clear. The mayor ruled the motion defeated on a tie vote during the council meeting. Immediately following adjournment of the meeting he said the motion had passed because one member of council hadn't voted and in such cases a nonvoting member [illegible] in the affirmative.

The liquor petition [illegible] 12,418 signatures.

As far as Mr. Zapotichny is concerned the number should be 12,417. His name was added to the list without his knowledge or consent, and contrary to his opinions, he said.

He said a fast-talking woman campaigner persuaded his wife, Laura, it was permissible for her to sign his name after the canvasser painted the picture of a beer parlor on the vacant lot opposite the Zapotichny home if enough names were not on the petition.

Mr. Zapotichny said yesterday at the garage where he works that he did his voting on the liquor outlets question in June 1952 when he said 'yes' to the sale of liquor by the glass in licensed premises in Victoria.

WAS AT WORK

"I was at work when the woman came to our house a week past Friday," said Mr. Zapotichny. "I was pretty mad when I found out that the 'drys' had persuaded my wife to sign my name.

"They told her it was all right to do so so long as she initialed my name," he added.

Mrs. Zapotichny said the woman came to the house around four in the afternoon.

"She told me we would have no vote if our names did not appear on the petition," she said. "Actually, I wasn't too sure what it was all about."

The campaigner told her that if the petition did not have enough names there was the possibility that a beer parlor might be erected on the open ground opposite her house, she said.

MANY CHILDREN

"There are a lot of children in this neighborhood," said Mrs. Zapotichny, "and when I heard that I didn't think it would be very nice."

She said the woman had already visited other houses in the street before reaching her. "I also signed my name," she added.

"These people are trying to run a swindle of some kind and I don't like being swindled," said Herbert C. Rose, 110 Quebec Street.

Mr. Rose said a female campaigner who called at his home about a week ago tried to convince him he would not have a vote if he did not sign the petition.

"I told her that if insufficient names were placed on the petition there would be no vote required, and that I also knew I would have a vote even if the petition went through and I had not signed it."

NOT INTERESTED

"I told her I wasn't interested in her petition," said Mr. Rose. "These people are just a bunch of killjoys," he added.

Two residents who were unhappy about signing the liquor petition are Mrs. H. W. Harvey and Mrs. S. Jensen of 807 and 803 Fenwell Street.

"I definitely want my name off the list," said Mrs. Harvey. "I wasn't given the correct story at all. I was told that I wouldn't have any say in the matter unless I signed."

TRICKERY CLAIMED

Mrs. Harvey said she hadn't really known what she was signing but had done so because she had seen other neighbor's names on the petition. "I was tricked into it," she added.

"She got my name under false pretences," Mrs. Jensen said. "I really didn't want to sign it either, but after she had told me I wouldn't have a vote in the matter, I did. I would never have signed if I had had time to think it over."

Columbia Dam Investigation Not Finished

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters said Friday a proposed $100,000,000 hydro project on the Columbia River in British Columbia is still under investigation by the government.

"Studies are still continuing and there is a distinct possibility that a dam will some day be built there," he informed the Commons.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) asked the minister to comment on reports that construction would start in 18 months on a 600-foot high hydro dam on the big bend of the Columbia where it loops to the north in its descent from the Rocky Mountains.

Mr. Winters said he is surprised at the suggested 18-month period. "I would be inclined to think that it would be a little longer."

The project was being investigated by Resources Minister Lesage.

If the dam was built, it would flood a substantial portion of the existing Big Bend highway, the planned route of the Trans-Canada highway. The B.C. government would be indemnified in full for any damages to the highway from the flooding.

Speak Your Mind

What Will We Do To Improve Island?

BY THE JUDGE

Now that you've aired your views as to whether Victoria should be advertised as a little bit of Olde England, the Judge has chosen a new topic which should bring in a lot of letters.

If you had the power, what would you do to improve any particular feature of Vancouver Island?

Just put yourself into the shoes of your civic or Island leaders. (The Judge put himself in the shoes of Mayor Harrison and he's not speaking to anyone.)

Maybe you think Victoria should have a zoo. Or you may feel that Nanaimo or Duncan needs a new City Hall.

Any improvement you think of will do. There's really no limit to the possibilities. And if you live on the Island you must have ideas on some things which you feel need improving.

Remember, there's a daily prize of $2 for the best letter and $25 for the weekly winner. So start sending those letters in immediately. Who knows, you could be a winner.

P.S. If some of you feel that your district would be improved with the departure of your neighbors, I'm afraid we can't use your letters. But it should make interesting reading.

Museum 'Claims' Captured Sub

This photo which has just been released by the U.S. department of defense after being declassified as secret, shows the German submarine U-505 being boarded by members of the escort carrier USS Guadalcanal in 1944. The deadly enemy craft, which had sunk 80,000 tons of Allied shipping before it was depth-charged and boarded during last war, has been turned over by Navy Secretary Robert Anderson to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. The first warship captured on the high seas by U.S. forces since 1815, it has laid up in Portsmouth, N.H., where it was to have been scrapped until a group of Chicagoans became interested in preserving it. It will be towed to Chicago by way of the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes. (Central Press Canadian.)

Lights Ignored In Wild Ride

Stop lights didn't mean a thing last night to Travers Rankin of 122 Peatt Road, Langford.

He reported to police that he had ignored several red lights in a wild 12-minute ride from Langford to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Ten minutes after he arrived at the hospital, his wife gave birth to their fifth child, an eight-pound daughter.

Police took a lenient view.

Two Blows Proved Fatal, Jury at Nanaimo Hears

NANAIMO (CP)—Roy Kenny, 15, was found not guilty of manslaughter here Friday in the two-punch slaying of his father. The Assize Court jury deliberated only 30 minutes.

The youth was [illegible] charged with murder after the slaying which occurred at the family's South Wellington home [illegible] here December [illegible] the charge was reduced to manslaughter.

The trial was [illegible] by the testimony of the mother, Mrs. George Kenny [illegible]

Mrs. Kenny said [illegible] had rushed at [illegible] to kill him.

Crown counsel [illegible] QC instructed the jury to decide whether the boy used more force than was necessary in the fight with his father.

NECK, JAW BROKEN

Medical evidence showed the father died of a broken neck. A post-mortem disclosed the elder Kenny suffered three fractures to his jaw.

Mrs. Kenny testified her husband tried to choke her four years ago and that he pulled a knife on Roy on another occasion.

"I stopped him before he did anything," she said. "I whacked him on the head with a milk stool on Easter Monday [illegible]."

Mrs. Kenny said her husband arrived home [illegible] drunk about midnight December [illegible] and demanded she go with him to Alberni to pick up a heifer for their farm. She refused, she told the court, and when Roy also refused the [illegible] started.

He "made a pass at Roy," [illegible] Mrs. Kenny, and "the boy struck his father and knocked him back into the bedroom." Mrs. Kenny said her husband "immediately picked [illegible] up and charged at Roy and told him he was going to kill him."

Roy struck her husband another blow, Mrs. Kenny said, and then the family called police.

Motion Asks Assistance On Bridges

A formal motion calling on the provincial and federal governments for financial assistance in construction of a new Point Ellice Bridge and reconstruction of the Johnson Street span will be framed by the city public works committee.

Decision on this new tactical plan was made yesterday as the committee met on estimates.

The motion will come before the next regular meeting of the council.

Ald. Robert Macmillan stated the bridges were tied up with national defense because they provided a direct link with military installations in Esquimalt.

The senior governments have a direct responsibility in construction of the bridges for this reason, he said.

The city should tell the senior governments it is faced with heavy expenditures on the bridges over the next few years and ask them for immediate consideration of the problem, he said.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, committee chairman, said the city had never made official representations to senior authorities for assistance on the bridge problem. He stated that formal representations should be made to the provincial government, the local federal MP and B.C.'s cabinet ministers.

New Body To Decide on Buttle Lake Development

B.C. Power Commission Resigns after Whatshan Criticism

British Columbia's three-man power commission and its chief engineer resigned yesterday as a consequence of the $1,000,000 damage done by mudslides at the Whatshan hydro installation on lower Arrow Lake last August and a finding of negligence on the part of these officials by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, royal commissioner.

Chairman S. R. Weston, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, VD, and Forrest L. Shaw, OBE, proferred their resignations to the government. They were accepted.

A. W. Lash, the commission's chief engineer, gave his resignation to the commission. It, too, will be accepted, the premier indicated.

On the heels of the resignations came these rapid developments:

1. A new commission will make its own decision on the feasibility of developing Buttle Lake as a storage reservoir.
2. Conservationists urged delay in the power commission's Buttle dam project, indicating a reopening of the fight to preserve inviolate the Strathcona Park area in which the lake lies.
3. Hints that seepage at the Campbell River dam took on a larger significance.
4. Officials feared a shackling of power commission enterprise in the absence of executives with power to approve expenditures or even to pay salaries.

When the premier rose in the legislature yesterday immediately after prayers he was grave.

"I rise on a matter urgent public importance," he said.

"On Friday last the government received the report of Mr. Justice Clyne in regard to the Whatshan dam matter. The report was immediately filed in the House and thereafter studied by the government and the power commission.

"I wish now to advise the House that the government is about to receive the resignations of the commissioners, and upon receiving them it is the government's intention to accept these resignations."

From Mr. Weston [illegible] the premier [illegible] Along [illegible] the report of Mr. Justice Clyne I hereby tender my resignation as chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, to take effect at your pleasure.

"May I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere appreciation of the courteous treatment received from you and your colleagues on all occasions."

SECOND FILED

Mr. Shaw's resignation also was filed with the premier's office and General Foster's was expected [illegible]

Mr. [illegible] commission's veteran [illegible] would be [illegible]

[illegible] House [illegible] Premier Bennett [illegible] "Accepting these resignations is the [illegible] job I've had since I became premier."

The resignations were made voluntarily, he added.

Then he said: "Consideration is now being given to successors to the commissioners. We will endeavor to secure the best possible people for these positions."

He was questioned as to the possible change of policy with regard to development of storage at Buttle Lake by damming the Campbell River source to feed the six generator units at John Hart Development powerhouse.

"This," he said, "will be a matter for the new commission to consider."

The decision on Buttle Lake should not be left to the new power commission but to the
